CRICKETERS' GUIDE.

CRICKET: AS IT WAS, AND AS IT IS IN VICTORIA.

MORE than thirty years ago, about 1838, the first wicket pitched in Victoria was by those two well-known gentlemen—veterans we might call them now—Donald Gordon Macarthur and Isaac Hind, at the foot of the late Batman's Hill. It is not generally known that the first races were run in that locality, and that old Isaac officiated at the scales, with little more nimbleness than he now shows at Flemington. It must not be supposed this was one of the lancewood and brass-topped wickets we see at the present time, but was improvised for the occasion from the ti-ti tree which grew so plentifully on the banks of the river in those times; the bails being to match. But there was a really genuine bat and ball! And were they not tenderly looked after during the summer season, and greased and laid up in lavender during the winter—there not being another to be had in the Province!

This institution of the noble game caused several other gentlemen to rub up their school-day cricket, and a supply of material having been obtained from Hobart Town, they formed the nucleus of the Melbourne Cricket Club. The following were amongst the first to commence practice, several of whom having had their last innings, and been bowled "by the grim straight-armed one" :—D. S. Campbell, D. C. Macarthur, G. Cavenagh, Marsden, Webster, Powlett ; M'Vitie, secretary.

In these times there were not so many inhabitants as there are now cricketers in the colony, and it could hardly be expected the cricket could be of first-class order ; but it caused great amusement, and was very enjoyable. It was not conducted in the matter-of-fact business-like way it is now played ; and when any of the old school meet now, to talk over old times, the cricket of those days is one of the most pleasing of their reminiscences.

A few years afterwards, about 1845, the ground at the foot of Emerald Hill became the head quarters, and although there was more grass than at Batman's Hill, it was of too coarse material to promote good cricket, but many a jolly match has been played there—as Geelong, Brighton, and the Melbourne Tradesmen had formed clubs, and the M.C.C. found them "foes worthy of their willow." The Geelong had warriors like Sladen, Haines, Finnis, Bell, Thompson, to do battle for them. Brighton, Coleman (the first round-arm bowler here), Foote, Brown ; and the Tradesmen the Gregorys, Lister, &c. And well did they do battle for their respective clubs. About 1845 W. Philpott and his brother brought an improved style of cricket into operation, the former being the first imported wicket-keeper, as well as a good bat, and was soon elected captain of the M.C.C., and, up to the time of the increase of population, caused by the discovery of gold, was the means of greatly popularising this noble game.

From this period a new era commenced—as the importation of good cricketers from almost every noted county in England made cricket general all through the colony wherever they could get a bat and ball—matches then became general between the gold-fields townships and the M.C.C., and many of our first-class cricketers, such as Elliott, Coulstock, Bryant, Lowe, Costick, Sweeney, &c., who were men then unknown to fame, came out of their shells.

In 1853 Governor Latrobe made the M.C.C. a present of the present site of their beautiful ground. The natural grass was, however, not fit for the wear of a cricket ground, and water was very scarce in those times, so that it was towards the end of the season like playing on a turnpike-road. Several attempts were unsuccessfully made to turf it, until at last, in 1859, Tom Wray, when secretary, took the bull by the horns and ploughed it up, to the horror of some of the leading members of the club (amongst whom was the editor of this Guide), who said the ground could never be played on for two years, and interfered with the workmen; however by a good mixture of rich black soil and manure, with the original poor loam and plenty of English rye-grass, the present middle piece of turf was fit to play on at the commencement of the season, and there are few better wickets to be found even in England. The Richmond and East Melbourne clubs followed suit, and the same model has been followed by every club in the suburbs.

In 1856 the gauntlet was thrown down by our sister colony, N. S. Wales, and immediately accepted by Victoria, and the matches have since been continued annually with but two exceptions, with what results will be seen in this Guide. They have been the cause of many new clubs springing up in all directions, and the spirit of emulation caused by the desire to be chosen one of the champions of their colony made a very marked improvement in the style of the players, they having such accomplished batsmen as Hammersley, Tom Morris, Cumberland, Bryant, &c., to model themselves by. Many of our present best players took one or other of the above as models, and are some of them now far in advance of their "Willow Patterns." The advent of the first All England Eleven, under the auspices of Spiers and Pond, gave a new zest to the game, and the finished style of the English lions could be seen being imitated in every highway and byeway in the colony; in fact every one from childhood to dotage appeared to have "cricket on the brain." A powerful stimulant was administered to the game, and engendered a spirit of wholesome competition amongst the different clubs and individual players.

The advent of the second All England team that came out had, however, a contrary effect on the game, and it still labours under the malodour caused by the selfish and grasping disposition shown by individual members of their team.

The decadence of cricket is spoken of by a certain portion of the press who run down cricket to benefit certain athletes, but it is an unmistakeable fact, as per meetings of clubs for the ensuing season, that with the exception of the "leading club" all others have improved as to number of members and their financial position. Nearly every suburb has its club, and the local excitement when a match is played is proof positive that the interest in the game is greater than ever.

THE LAWS OF CRICKET

AS REVISED BY THE MARYLEBONE CRICKET CLUB (THE LATEST ALTERATIONS ARE INSERTED.)

I. The BALL must weigh not less than five ounces and a half, nor more than five ounces and three-quarters. It must measure not less than nine inches, nor more than nine inches and one-quarter in circumference. At the beginning of each innings, either party may call for a new ball.

II. The BAT must not exceed four inches and one-quarter in the widest part; it must not be more than thirty-eight inches in length.

III. The STUMPS must be three in number; twenty-seven inches out of the ground; the Bails eight inches in length; the Stumps of equal and of sufficient thickness to prevent the ball from passing through.

IV. The BOWLING CREASE must be in a line with the Stumps; six feet eight inches in length; the stumps in the centre: with a return crease at each end towards the Bowler at right angles.

V. The POPPING CREASE must be four feet from the Wicket, and parallel to it; unlimited in length, but not shorter than the Bowling Crease.

VI. The Wickets must be pitched opposite to each other by the Umpires, at the distance of twenty-two yards.

VII. It shall not be lawful for either party during a match, without the consent of the other, to alter the ground by rolling, watering, covering, mowing, or beating, except at the commencement of each innings, when the ground may be swept and rolled at the request of either party, such request to be made to one of the Umpires within one minute after the conclusion of the former innings. This rule is not meant to prevent the Striker from beating the ground with his bat near to the spot where he stands during the innings; nor to prevent the Bowler from filling up holes with sawdust, &c., when the ground is wet.

[In these colonies (where matches are as a rule played only from Saturday to Saturday) the first portion of this rule is not carried out, owing to the lapse of time before the continuation of the game. Only in two consecutive days, and in Inter-colonial matches, is the law enforced.—ED.]

VIII. After rain the wickets may be changed with the consent of both parties.

IX. The BOWLER shall deliver the ball with one foot on the ground behind the bowling crease, and within the return crease, and shall bowl one over before he change Wickets, which he shall be permitted to do twice in the same innings; and no bowler shall bowl more than two overs in succession.

X. The ball must be bowled; if thrown or jerked, the umpire shall call "no ball."

[Therefore there is at present no limit as to the height of the hand when the ball is delivered.]

XI. He may require the Striker at the wicket from which he is bowling to stand on that side of it which he may direct.

XII. If the Bowler shall toss the ball over the Striker's head, or bowl it so wide that in the opinion of the Umpire it shall not be fairly within the reach of the batsman, he shall adjudge one run to the party receiving the innings, either with or without an appeal, which shall be put down to the score of Wide Balls; such ball shall not be reckoned as one of the four balls; but if the Batsman shall by any means bring himself within reach of the ball, the run shall not be adjudged.

XIII. If the Bowler deliver a "No Ball" or a "Wide Ball," the Striker shall be allowed as many runs as he can get, and he shall not be put out except by running out. In the event of no run being obtained by any other means, then one run shall be added to the score of "No Balls" or "Wide Balls," as the case may be. All runs obtained for "Wide Balls" to be scored to "Wide Balls." The names of the Bowlers who bowl "Wide Balls" or "No Balls," in future to be placed on the score, to show the parties by whom either score is made. If the ball shall first touch any part of the Striker's dress or person (except his hands), the Umpire shall call "Leg Bye."

[If the batsman run two or more runs from a wide or no ball, the same shall be scored to Wides or No Balls, as the case may be.]

XIV. At the beginning of each innings the Umpire shall call "Play;" from that time to the end of each innings no trial ball shall be allowed to any Bowler.

[This rule is seldom or never enforced, as a new bowler tries a ball to some one in the field.]

XV. The STRIKER IS OUT if either of the bails be bowled off, or if a stump be bowled out of the ground;

XVI. Or, if the ball, from the stroke of the bat, or hand, but not the wrist, be held before it touch the ground, although it be hugged to the body of the catcher;

XVII. Or, if in striking, or at any other time while the ball shall be in play, both his feet shall be over the popping crease, and his wicket put down, except his bat be grounded within it ;

XVIII. Or, if in striking at the ball he hit down his wicket ;

XIX. Or, if under pretence of running, or otherwise, either of the Strikers prevent a ball from being caught, the Striker of the ball is out ;

XX. Or, if the ball be struck, and he wilfully strike it again ;

[But this does not prevent a batsman from striking the ball off his wicket after having played it, but he must not attempt a run.]

XXI. Or, if in running, the wicket be struck down by a throw, or by the hand or arm (with ball in hand), before his bat (in hand), or some part of his person be grounded over the popping crease. But if both the bails be off, a stump must be struck out of the ground ;

XXII. Or, if any part of the Striker's dress knock down the wicket ;

XXIII. Or, if the Striker touch or take up the ball while in play ; unless at the request of the opposite party ;

XXIV. Or, if with any part of his person he stop the ball, which in the opinion of the Umpire at the Bowler's wicket shall have been pitched in a straight line from it to the Striker's wicket and would have hit it.

[It is almost an impossibility for a round-arm bowler bowling on the right side of the wicket, to pitch a ball in a straight line. If anyone doubts it, let him draw two straight lines from wicket to wicket, and try it.]

XXV. If the players have crossed each other, he that runs for the wicket which is put down is out.

XXVI. A ball being caught no runs shall be reckoned.

XXVII. A Striker being run out, that run which he and his partner were attempting shall not be reckoned.

XXVIII. If a lost ball be called, the Striker shall be allowed six runs ; but if more than six shall have been run before lost ball shall have been called, then the Striker shall have all that have been run.

XXIX. After the ball shall have been finally settled in the wicket-keeper's or bowler's hand, it shall be considered dead ; but when the Bowler is about to deliver the ball, if the Striker at his wicket go outside the popping crease before such actual delivery, the said Bowler may put him out, unless (with reference to the 21st law) his bat in hand, or some part of his person be within the popping crease

XXX. The Striker shall not retire from his wicket and return to it to complete his innings after another has been in, without the consent of the opposite party.

XXXI. No substitute shall in any case be allowed to stand out or run between the wickets for another person without the consent of the opposite party; and in case any person shall be allowed to run for another, the Striker shall be out if either he or his substitute be off the ground in manner mentioned in laws 17 and 21 while the ball is in play.

XXXII. In all cases where a substitute shall be allowed, the consent of the opposite party shall also be obtained as to the person to act as substitute, and the place in the field which he shall take.

XXXIII. If any Fieldsman stop the ball with his hat, the ball shall be considered dead, and the opposite party shall add five runs to their score; if any be run they shall have five in all.

XXXIV. The ball having been hit, the Striker may guard his wicket with his bat, or with any part of his body except his hands; that the 23rd law may not be disobeyed.

XXXV. The Wicket-keepers shall not take the ball for the purpose of stumping until it have passed the wicket; he shall not move until the ball be out of the Bowler's hand; he shall not by any noise incommode the Striker; and if any part of his person be over or before the wicket, although the ball hit it, the Striker shall not be out.

XXXVI. The Umpires are the sole judges of fair or unfair play; and all disputes shall be determined by them, each at his own wicket; but in case of a catch which the Umpire at the Wicket bowled from cannot see sufficiently to decide upon, he may apply to the other Umpire, whose opinion shall be conclusive.

XXXVII. The Umpires in all matches shall pitch fair wickets; and the parties shall toss up for choice of innings. The Umpires shall change wickets after each party has had one innings.

XXXVIII. They shall allow two minutes for each Striker to come in, and ten minutes between each innings. When the Umpire shall call "Play," the party refusing to play shall lose the match.

XXXIX. They are not to order a striker out unless appealed to by the adversaries.

XL. But if one of the Bowler's feet be not on the ground behind the bowling crease, and within the return crease when he shall deliver the ball, the Umpire at his wicket, unasked, must call "No Ball."

[Or on, or over the crease.]

XXI. If either of the Strikers run a short run, the Umpire must call "One Short."

XLII. No Umpire shall be allowed to bet.

XLIII. No Umpire is to be changed during a match, unless with the consent of both parties, except in case of violation of the 42nd law; then either party may dismiss the transgressor.

XLIV. After the delivery of four balls the Umpire must call "Over," but not until the ball shall be finally settled in the Wicket-keeper's or Bowler's hand; the ball shall then be considered dead; nevertheless, if an idea be entertained that either of the Strikers is out, a question may be put previously to, but not after, the delivery of the next ball.

XLV. The Umpire must take especial care to call "No Ball" instantly upon delivery; "Wide Ball" as soon as it shall pass the Striker.

XLVI. The Players who go in second shall follow their innings, if they have obtained eighty runs less than their antagonists, except in all matches limited to only one day's play, when the number shall be limited to sixty instead of eighty.

XLVII. When one of the Strikers shall have been put out, the use of the bat shall not be allowed to any person until the next Striker shall come in.

[This rule is invariably transgressed in the colonies. Captains and Umpires should strictly enforce the rule.]

NOTE.—The Committee of the Marylebone Club think it desirable that, previously to the commencement of a match, one of each side should be declared the manager of it; and that the new laws with respect to substitutes may be carried out in a spirit of fairness and mutual concession, it is their wish that such substitutes be allowed in all reasonable cases, and that the Umpire should inquire if it is done with the consent of the manager of the opposite side.

Complaints having been made that it is the practice of some players, when at the wicket, to make holes in the ground for a footing, the committee are of opinion that the Umpires should be empowered to prevent it.

THE LAWS OF SINGLE WICKET.

I. Where there shall be less than five Players on a side, Bounds shall be placed twenty-two yards each in a line from the off and leg stumps.

II. The ball must be hit before the Bounds to entitle the Striker to a run, which run cannot be obtained unless he touch the bowling stump or crease in a line with his bat, or some part of his person, or go beyond them, returning to the popping crease as at Double Wicket, according to the 21st law.

III. When the Striker shall hit the ball, one of his feet must be on the ground, and behind the popping crease, otherwise the Umpire shall call "No hit."

IV. When there shall be less than five Players on a side, neither byes nor overthrows shall be allowed, nor shall the Striker be caught out behind the wicket, nor stumped out.

V. The Fieldsman must return the ball so that it shall cross the play between the wicket and the bowling stump, or between the bowling stump and the bounds; the Striker may run till the ball be so returned.

VI. After the striker shall have made one run, if he start again he must touch the bowling stump, and turn before the ball cross the play to entitle him to another.

VII. The Striker shall be entitled to three runs for lost ball, and the same number for ball stopped with hat, with reference to the 28th and 33rd laws of Double Wicket.

VIII. When there shall be more than four Players on a side there shall be no bounds. All hits, byes, and overthrows shall then be allowed.

IX. The Bowler is subject to the same laws as at Double Wicket.

X. No more than one minute shall be allowed between each ball.

BETS.

I. No bet upon any match is payable unless it be played out or given up.

II. If the runs of one player be betted against those of another, the bet depends on the first innings, unless otherwise specified.

III. If the bet be made on both innings, and one party beat the other in one innings, the runs of the first innings shall determine it.

IV. If the other party go in a second time, then the bet must be determined by the number on the score.

REMARKS AND SUGGESTIONS

AS TO THE INTERPRETATION OF CERTAIN LAWS OF CRICKET.

(From Lillywhite's Guide.)

Law 3. The whole wicket, formed of stumps and bails, to be neither more nor less than twenty-seven inches by eight. That is to say, measured at any part (either from the top of the bails, or from the top of the stumps), the wicket shall only be 27 inches out of the ground. Bails made so thick as to give any additional height to the wicket are manifestly unfair.

Law 5. Unlimited. Hence the batsman may run as wide of his wicket as he chooses, without being put out on that account. But not shorter, i.e., must not be marked shorter, though as much longer as you please.

Law 6. "By the Umpires," &c., and no one else, unless both parties agree, or one party might obtain an unfair advantage.

Law 12. "Wide," once called, should be scored wide, unless actually hit. This is the general practice; and it saves a great deal of discussion—the error (if any) being regarded as an error of judgment on the part of the Umpire.

Law 13. A ball being hit is sufficient proof that it was not wide; and the hitter may be caught out from a ball called "wide" in error.

Law 14. "No trial Ball." The present custom of bowling close beside the wicket has a bad appearance, and is inconsistent with this rule.

Law 17. "Bat be grounded." The bat must be in the hand; or, at least his hand touching it.

Law 19. "Under pretence," &c. The question for the Umpire to decide in a case where a catch has been prevented by a batsman, is, could the batsman have reasonably avoided doing what he did? Did he do what he did, with the purpose of preventing the catch being made? If so, the Umpire ought to give him out.

Law 24. "Any part of his person." A man has been fairly given out when hit on the arm, and when hit on the mouth (as a short man stooping might be), by a ball, which had been pitched "in a straight line from wicket to wicket"—not from bowler's hand to wicket—and "would have hit it." The Umpire should look keenly for the working away of the ball, and consider whether pitched short or well up; if short pitched, there is more time to work away from the wicket.

Law 29. "Finally settled." A nice point. The Umpire should decide that. The ball is finally settled when the wicket-keeper or bowler shows the Umpire by his manner that he has no longer an intention of using the ball.

Whenever finally settled, the ball is dead till the bowler stands to deliver next ball.

Law 31. If the principal run, forgetting his substitute, and a wicket be put down, it must be held that the principal can be out by Law 17; but if the run be made it cannot count, because having chosen a substitute, you must abide by his act alone.

Law 38. "They shall allow two minutes." This means "two minutes" at the most. But, to prevent twenty minutes or more out of each innings being wasted, the manager should have the next man ready to go at once to the fallen wicket.

It is a general rule, that all matches agreed to be "one day" matches, are decided by the first innings if not played out. In this case the Umpire's attention should be called to time, and to prevent any attempt at delay.

The party challenged should have the option of playing first match at home.

SINGLE WICKET.

Law 5. "The striker may run till the ball is so returned." Question: How returned? By custom, it need only be so returned that the ball shall be taken by the fieldsman in front of, and not behind the wicket. But this never was the intention of the rule. No rule would ever have been passed for anything so trifling. The old custom was, that the fieldsman must run in front of the bound before he could duly return the ball.

With reference to Law No. 2. "The ball must be hit before the bounds, &c." In the late single wicket match at Sydney, the Umpire, at the Striker's end, allowed three runs for a hit that pitched behind the wicket (long leg), because the ball, when passing him at the 22 yards bounds, was in front of the wicket, and therefore came under the written law, viz., "must be hit in front." The correct reading of the rule is, that the ball must strike the ground in front of the said 22 yards bounds (on either side) before a run can be obtained. After striking the ground in front of the bounds, the ball may pass round the outside of said bounds.

Law 5. When the ball shall have been hit in front of bounds (as above mentioned), the fieldsman must bring the ball back in front of the bounds before he can throw it at the wicket; if he does not do so, the striker can keep on running till it is so returned. And in case of a man going up to the wicket to receive a ball so thrown in from the field, he must take it in front of the stumps, and not behind (as in Double Wicket); should he do so, the runner is not out.

CHALLENGE CUP MATCHES.

R U L E S .

1. All matches for the Challenge Cup shall be under the management and control of a committee, to be composed of delegates from all clubs subscribing, one delegate from each club to be appointed by such club at the commencement of the season.

2. All Challenge Cup matches (after the first match, which will be arranged by the committee) shall be played on the ground of the holders of the Cup, unless otherwise arranged, with the sanction of the committee.

3. One week previous to every match a list of players on both sides must be furnished to the committee, and no person whose name is not on such list will be allowed to play.

4. Any club challenging for the cup may demand to be handicapped by the committee, but no club shall play more than 18 men.

5. The club holding the Challenge Cup shall play 11 men, but if any challenger shall play professional men, the committee may handicap the holders if required.

6. No person will be allowed to play with more than one club in any Cup match during the season.

7. All matches for the cup must be played out according to arrangements to be made by the captains of each side previous to commencement, and either side neglecting or refusing to conform to such arrangements will be held to have lost the match.

8. If for any reason play should not commence within 30 minutes of the time appointed the match shall lapse, and if it be the holders' fault, the Cup shall be returned to the committee, who shall arrange the next match.

9. The season for Cup matches shall commence on 1st day of October, and terminate 31st day of March, in each year.

10. The Cup must be held by a club for two successive years, without a defeat, before it can become their property.

11. All disputes arising upon any point whatever in connection with Challenge Cup matches, shall be settled definitely by the committee. Mr. W. H. Handfield represents the M. C. C., Mr. A. E. Clarke the East Melbourne, and Mr. W. J. Runting the South Melbourne.

SEASON, 1870-71.

MELBOURNE CRICKET CLUB.

MATCHES.

1. M.C.C. v. S.M.—Cup Match.—Owing to the weather this was the first match of the season. The S.M. scored 55 and 34, H. Conway, Baker, and Osborne scoring respectively 12 and 4, 13 and 5, and 11 and 3. The M.C.C. scored 124 in their first innings; Kelly 37, and V. Cameron not out 37, being the highest scorers for the metropolitans.

2. M.C.C. v. BALLARAT (at Ballarat).—Ballarat scored first innings 112, and second innings 75, with two wickets to fall; Cosstick scored 47 and 14, and W. H. Figgis 27 and 1. M.C.C. scored 96 in their first innings; Loughnan sen. 29, W. Campbell 25, being the highest scorers.

3. M.C.C. v. CARLTON (16).—Carlton scored first innings 97; R. M'Farland scored 31, and J. Blackham 23. The M.C.C. obtained 183, with three wickets to fall; V. Cameron, not out, 74, and T. W. Wills, not out, 43. Wills obtained nine wickets for the M.C.C.

4. M.C.C. v. E.M.—Cup Match.—East Melbourne obtained 234 and 163, with one man absent second innings; W. Campbell scored 71 and 21; Dan. Wilkie, 54 and 10; Riggall, 28 and 60; and Williams, 0 and 37, by good play. M.C.C. scored 187 and 213, with four wickets to the good; Gibson scored 26 and 41; R. W. Wardill, 36 and 47; Phillips, 35 and 36, not out, either innings, and Wills, 17 and 19 not out. Darke, for East Melbourne, did not bowl the second innings, being up country.

5. M.C.C. v. 15 of S.M.—Cup Match.—M.C.C. scored 87 and 141; Loughnan jun. scoring 7 and 48 not out, Wardill 17 and 9, Cameron 15 and 9, and Wills 19 and 5. South Melbourne scored 67 and 68; Chessell with 20 and 2, A. Yuille 6 and 28, and Patterson 11 and 3, being the highest contributors. Conway and Osborne both bowled well for the younger club.

6. ELEVEN OF VICTORIA v. ELEVEN OF TASMANIA.—Tasmania scored 103 and 36; Davies with 11 and 15, Barnes 36 and 1, and Fergusson 25 not out, and 7, being the highest scorers. Victoria scored 129 and 11, with ten wickets to fall;

Loughnan jun. 24, Phillips 22, B. B. Cooper (his first match) 22 and 2 not out, being the top scorers.

7. VICTORIA v. N.S.W.—(On Albert Ground, Sydney.)—See account of match.

8. M.C.C. v. E.M. — For Cup. — E.M., first innings, 175 ; Goldsmith scored 59, Jennings 40, and Allee 24 for the juniors. The M.C.C. scored first innings 29, with one absent, and second innings 108, with two absentees ; Wardill 0 and 26, Cameron not out 3 and 18, Phillips 5 and not out 14, being the highest contributors to the score. The bowling of Barnes and Darke (assisted with the extra fields) proved too good for the metropolitans ; and so the Cup passed for the season into the hands of the hon. sec. of the E.M.C.C.

9. M.C.C. v. COLLINGWOOD COMMERCIAL (16.)—M. C. C. first innings 138 ; Kelly with 34, Butler 20, and Cavenagh not out 21, being the highest scorers. The C.C.C.C., with seven wickets down, 61 ; Swift 11, and Hailes not out 16, being the only double figures. Ballard's bowling for the Four C.'s was very good. (Unfinished.)

Reid's average is the best for the season. Barnes, with his 17 wides, takes second place with Cosstick. M'Gan is slightly the best of the S. Melbourne trio. Osborne has bowled in the greatest number of innings; and Wills the greatest number of balls, and runs equal to Osborne and M'Gan for average.

REPORTS OF MATCHES.

VICTORIA v. N. S. WALES.

PLAYED MARCH 9TH, 10TH, 11TH, AND 13TH, 1871.

THE Victorian eleven arrived on the Saturday previous to the match, and at once took up their quarters at the "Oxford," and received the best of treatment from host Gannon. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday saw the team hard at practice on the Albert Ground. The N.S.W. team was not finally selected till the night previous to the match, when it was found that G. Moore, of Maitland, was chosen for his bowling; G. Gilbert (our old friend) being omitted from the team, for what reason no one seemed to know, but so it was. The match created an immense excitement, and cricket certainly "looked up." On Thursday, a little after 12 o'clock, the match was commenced (on the Albert Ground, Redfern). The two captains, N. Thompson for N.S.W. and T. W. Wills for Victoria, tossed for choice of innings; the Victorian winning, and electing to send his side in first. W. Campbell and Goldsmith quickly took their places at the wickets, to the bowling of D. Gregory and the veteran Moore (one of the old sort, a slow round-arm bowler, with fine length and spin.) D. Gregory bowled the first over from the northern end, and the field was placed as follows:—Thompson wicket keeper, Bannerman long-stop, C. Gregory and Sheridan long-leg and cover, Coates mid-off, Faithful point, Hewitt mid-on, E. Gregory third man, and the veteran Maitlander short-leg. Both batsmen continued to play and score steadily for some time, till Goldsmith gave a chance in the slips off Moore, which was accepted—1, 12, 16. Cooper was the next to handle the willow, and received a hearty welcome from the spectators. Campbell then scored very fast, and 40 soon appeared on the telegraph board. Coates relieved Gregory, and bowled in fine form. When 53 had been scored, Campbell made a splendid on-drive off Coates right for the pavilion, but Hewitt, who ran about 20 yards, made a last grand effort and secured the catch amidst thunders of applause—2, 26, 53. Loughnan joins B. B., but in Coates's next over the Englishman is superbly caught by Moore at short-leg, for which the latter receives quite an ovation—3, 11, 53. Williams joins young "Luff," and after some half dozen runs had been added to the score the luncheon bell rings.

A splendid spread was provided by host O'Brien, who always does these things well. R. Driver, Esq., M.L.A., occupied the chair; and on his right were His Excellency the Governor, Sir James Martin (the Premier), and the Hon. J. B. Wilson; on his left, the Victorian captain, Hon. W. Lord (treasurer), W. Alderson, Esq., and C. S. Brown, Esq., M.L.A. After the inner man had been provided for, the usual toasts were proposed and shortly responded to, but no unnecessary time was wasted, as is generally the case.

Play was shortly after resumed. D. Gregory soon relieved Sheridan, who had bowled a few overs prior to the adjournment. Loughnan soon cut Gregory through the fence for 4, and both men score rather rapidly. Hewitt tries his hand, but it is no use, so Coates is tried again; and Williams, after obtaining 19 by steady play, is caught and bowled by Gregory—4, 19, 89. Heather next faced the bowling, which seems rather to puzzle him. Faithful is then put on to displace Loughnan, who has been making some grand hits, and commences by bowling 8 maidens in succession, from which two catches are missed (both given by Heather)—but tell it not in Surrey—by Caffyn. Thompson gives Moore a spell, and Heather is had by him off his own bowling. Cosstick next appears, but Loughnan is had at mid-off, off the captain's bowling; but not before he had scored 36 in fine style, which fully justified his selection in the team—6, 36, 120. Wills joins Cosstick, and the two "veterans" quickly infuse a considerable amount of life into the game, Wills getting two fours and a two to leg in one over off Moore. Cosstick seeing this, also opened his shoulders to the tune of threes and fours, and it was soon "bellows to mend." Cosstick, however, playing rather carelessly at one of Faithful's, hit it on—7, 30, 166; the last 46 being got in half an hour. M'Farland joins his skipper, but after five runs are made, gets stumped for "nil" off Moore—8, 0, 71. The Beechworth Slogger next appears, but, after scoring one, time is called. Wills, not out, 16. During the day some 6000 spectators were on the ground; in fact, every one in Sydney seems to patronise the Intercolonial Match—(would it were so in Victoria),—and there too it is “ Where SYDNEY statesmen talk'd, with looks profound.

The ground was a perfect picture, and many ladies graced the ground with their presence.

FRIDAY.

The game was resumed punctually at 12 o'clock, the two not-outs resuming their places at the wickets. Wills snicks Faithful for four, and cuts the slow bowler for a like number the following over. Coates takes up the bowling at Moore's end, and Wills skies straight up between the wickets, but the bowler and Hewitt allow it to touch terra firma without an effort to catch it. Reid, who is anxiously watching the ball instead of running, is run out—9, 4, 191. Darke, the last man, comes to the rescue; Wills, however, drives Coates for a four and a three, and Coates then scatters Darke's stumps for “nil.” Wills playing a good innings for 39, and carrying his bat. Total score—10, 0, 198.

Victorians are the favorites; but the people wish Sydney to win, and the excitement is intense.

The two Gregorys, E. and D., are the first to appear, to the bowling of Reid (pavilion end) and Cosstick; B. B. Cooper wicket keeper, Campbell long-stop, Loughnan and Goldsmith leg and cover, Williams point, Darke third man, Heather mid-on, M'Farland long-slip, and the captain mid-off. The brothers commence well, giving both bowlers an equal amount of punishment. Heather misses Dave, an easy catch at mid-on off Cosstick, and up goes 30. Darke bowls in lieu of Reid, and quickly has E. Gregory l.b.w. for 13—1, 13, 38. Sheridan next shows up, and gets it pretty hot from Sam on the fingers, who eventually clean bowls him for 6—2, 6, 47. “Terrible Billy” Caffyn (once England's terror) quickly makes 5, but in cutting at a break-back of Darke's is clean bowled—3, 5, 66. Dave, in the meantime, is scoring fast.

An adjournment for lunch then took place.

At 3 o'clock Hewitt joins Gregory, and the latter gives an easy chance to Goldsmith at cover, which is declined, and both batsmen set to work with a real good will, and hit to all parts of the field; Darke especially getting it very hot from Master Richard. Dave, at last, was well caught at the wicket by B. B. off Darke—4, 51, 94. C. Gregory, another brother, joins Hewitt, but was well caught by "Goldie" off Darke—5, 5, 99. Wills takes the ball at Sam's end, and Hewitt scores 7 off his first over, and shortly hits him to the on for 4, and for a like number to leg. Wills also gets "no balled." Thompson, Hewitt's partner, is however soon caught off Cosstick, who has resumed the bowling. Reid takes Darke's place, and Bannerman (the Sydney colt) joins Hewitt. Reid clean bowls Master Richard with one well up, after scoring a slashing innings of 60—7, 60, 159. Coates, in his second over, gives Williams a chance at point, which is considerably accepted—8, 1, 169. "Monty" Faithful joins the colt, but, being too anxious to hit, gets bowled by Reid—9, 5, 167. Moore, the last man, was considered a gift, but he kept his wicket up as well as the best of them, and Bannerman did the run getting, cutting Cosstick for 4, and 180 goes up amidst most uproarious applause. Wills tries slows at Reid's end, but the colt hits them hard, and 190 is up, and the people shout grandly. (At this time fully 10,000 persons were on the ground). Wills tries fast, when the score is at 196. In his second over Bannerman gets him to the off for 4, and 200 goes up; and then a grand shout rises to kiss the skies, and the echoes travel far and wide. Hats and caps fly about in all directions; and even melodious sounds are heard from the Grand Stand, and kerchiefs are waved by many a fair hand. Even old men frantically wave umbrellas about. Everybody seems to be inviting everybody else to drink. The next ball, however, from Wills sends the colt's leg-stump flying. "No drinks partaken of," Sydney two a-head, and the excitement something to witness. The "veteran," G. Moore, scored 8, not out, and was "chaired" for the fine stand he made. Wills' bowling was not at all up to the mark.

After the wickets had been properly attended to, Goldsmith and Campbell again appeared first for Victoria; D. Gregory and Moore bowling. Goldsmith quickly obtained 13, ten in one over to leg, a brace of fours and a double. Hewitt took Gregory's end, and Goldsmith, in attempting a second run for a leg hit, lost his wicket, the ball being beautifully returned by C. Gregory—1, 12, 16. Cooper joins Campbell, and both play steadily and well till the call of time.

SATURDAY.

Punctually at noon the men take their places at the wickets, Gregory and Faithful bowling. Both men set to work, and score fast. Thompson takes the ball from the "tall University man," and still the score mounts: Campbell making some pretty cuts and drives, ably backed up by Cooper (who looks as if he meant a century). Sheridan takes Gregory's place, and nearly hits cover-point (wide) the first ball; he, however, succeeded in getting "Master Jup" l.b.w. in a few balls, after a brilliantly-played innings of 37. Loughnan drives "Nat" for 4, and hits Sheridan to leg for the like figure, and cuts for 2, and looks well set. Coates tries at Sheridan's end, and Loughnan is caught at short-leg by Moore (bravo, old man) from his first ball. O. C. W. next appears, and Cooper, in his over anxiety to secure two to leg, is run out, the ball again being well handled by C. Gregory. Cosstick joins the hon. sec. of the E. M. club; the latter drives Coates to the off for 4, and 100 shews on the "black-board." Cosstick obtains four singles, and is then had in the slips—5, 4, 104. The captain then joins the "tall young gentleman," who again drives Coates for 4, and Wills has Moore to leg for 2 and a 4.

The lunch again stays proceedings.

At 3 o'clock the play was resumed, both Coates and Moore being dead on, and runs coming very slowly. Wills is the first to retire, being clean bowled by the "old man from the country," for 11. Reid followed, and after a 4 and a single, was out l.b.w., a very questionable decision, the ball having hit the bat first. Heather followed, and placed a "duck" to his credit. M'Farland spoiled his "specs" by getting one, and was had off the slows, not seeming to like them "a bit." Darke, the last man, did not get a ball, for Williams was splendidly caught at point by Thompson, for a very useful and carefully-played innings of 20—10, 20, 134; leaving the Sydney men 133 to get to win, which was considered a certainty; but these certainties are great mistakes sometimes, as the sequel showed.

The spectators were most gloriously enthusiastic. At a little after 4 o'clock Dave Gregory and Thompson appeared at the wickets to the bowling of Reid and Cosstick. Thompson was missed by Goldsmith at cover-point the first over, and Gregory was given not out from a catch at the wicket off Sam's second; and all the luck seemed to have deserted the Victorians. Reid, however, bowled Thompson for 4—1, 4, 13. Bannerman was bowled by Cosstick (who had just found the spot) for 3. Sheridan tried Williams's catching powers, and seemed quite dissatisfied at the result—3, 3, 24. Hewitt then came to turn the luck, but Sam's first ball sent him back to the pavilion—4, 0, 24 ; and the Sydney men not so sure about it. E. Gregory joined his brother, and succeeded in making a stand. D. Gregory hit one hard and high, which would have been far above any point's head but Williams's, who made a splendid catch of it—5, 10, 36. Caffyn joined the "lion-hearted Ned," and another stand was made ; but Cosstick, at last, gave the Gregory, E., such a curly one, that it could not be denied. He played a good innings for 15. The younger Gregory then quickly put nine together, and fell a victim to Reid. Coates joined Caffyn, but in Cosstick's next over Caffyn could not "keep his temper," and was had off him for 10. Faithful joined his University confrère, and upon the call of time Coates had scored one, but Faithful had not broken the ice.

MONDAY.—FOURTH DAY.

At 3 o'clock Messrs. Faithful and Coates resumed their places at the wickets (in the presence of three or four thousand spectators), to the bowling of Reid and Cosstick. Faithful soon began to let Reid have it hot, making some grand on-drives for fours and threes. Coates, however, was ultimately had l.b.w. by Cosstick. Moore, the last man, then joined "Monty," who still kept knocking Reid all over the field ; Moore playing a steady game. Faithful thinking, as his eye was well in, that he could give the same physic to Sam as he did to Reid, in attempting it skied one to point, which Williams retained. Faithful played a real plucky innings for 24, and had "Old Gilbert" been in to coach him things might have looked rather "sultry" for Victoria. Moore again carried out his bat for 4. Total, 84 ; thus leaving the Victorians the winners by 46 runs. The interest in the game was kept up from the commencement till the end, and every one thoroughly enjoyed the match. May there be many more like it ! At the conclusion of the game both teams were invited to partake of champagne in the luncheon room under the stand, and both were toasted for the plucky manner in which they had one and all fought for the honor of their colony. So ended, most pleasantly, the fourteenth match between the two colonies. In the evening Messrs. Campbell and D. Gregory were presented with silver-mounted bats, as the highest scorers of their respective teams ; Cosstick and Coates receiving silver-mounted balls for being the best performers with the leather. Umpires : for Victoria, Mr. F. P. Miller ; for N.S.W., Mr. G. Howell. Scorers ; Victoria, Mr. C. Hipwell; N.S.W., Mr. De Lissa. The fielding of the N. S. Wales men was far superior to that of the Victorians. On the Victorian side the fielding of Messrs. Goldsmith, M'Farland and Heather was particularly "shy." On the first three days of the match upwards of £1000 was taken at the gates. (Think of that, ye PATRONS of the game in Victoria.) The public there, although not altogether believing in the selection of the team, give the association not only their patronage, but their money as well. The M.C.C. is not supported to a third of the extent; yet they do all they can to deserve the support as well as the patronage of this sport loving public.

REMARKS ON VICTORIAN TEAM.

W. CAMPBELL (E.M.)—The prettiest bat in Victoria, as well as one of the safest; hits and drives well to the on and off, and is great at the Cambridge poke; can play either fast or slow bowling; is rather apt to get l.b.w.; as a field is exceedingly good; is the best longstop in the colony.

B. B. COOPER (M.C.C.)—A new arrival; a Rugbyan. Played for Kent and Middlesex. As a batsman his style is peculiar, and does not object to a pull ever and anon; has a strong defence; the wicket-keeper of the team; is very apt to run himself out.

S. COSSTICK (Ballarat).—The bowler of the team. Has great pace, and is generally dead on; is an excellent fieldsman and sure catch. As a batsman is most dangerous, hitting here, there, and everywhere. Was engaged by the Ballarat last season.

W. H. DARKE (E.M.)—A slow, round arm bowler, with great break and good length; is a good field in the slips; as a batsman, has plenty of room for improvement.

L. GOLDSMITH (E.M.)—Has a free, easy style, and hits with great power; scores very rapidly at times, but is too uncertain to be depended upon. As a field, is very brilliant at times (being a good thrower), but at others quite the reverse. Should not be so over-anxious.

E. D. HEATHER (E.M.)—Has a strong defence and great patience; can hit well at times; not a brilliant field.

AUSTIN LOUGHNAN (M.C.C.)—Has a very neat style; hits well and cleanly to the off, yet is rather weak on the off stump ; is one of the best fields in the colony. Will be heard of again.

R. M'FARLAND (Carlton).—Plays with a very straight bat, and drives well ; cannot play slows a "little bit ;" should practice to them. A good field in an ordinary match, but gets fogged in a grand one.

C. A. REID (M.C.C.).—Bowls a most deceptive ball, and has great luck ; rather shaky in the field ; as a batsman, is not A 1.

O. C. WILLIAMS (E.M.).—Has a very strong defence, and can, when once set, hit well all round ; does not much fancy facing a crowd at first ; does not yet make the most of his height ; is the makings of a splendid batsman ; is a fine point, not elegant, but very effective, and saves many runs.

T. W. WILLS (M.C.C.).—Captain of the team. (See "Remarks on Players.")

REMARKS ON N. S. WALES TEAM.

BANNERMAN, the colt of the season, hits well all round, but should study defence a little more. Is a good long-stop, and can bowl a bit.

W. CAFFYN (Albert) has greatly fallen off in batting, but still can shape "a little ;" has left off bowling ; has grown very stiff in the field, but the "old scythe bearer" is to blame for that. Was, at one time, the best man in England.

J. COATES (University) is a left-hand round-arm bowler, very dangerous at times, but is very uncertain. Has greatly fallen off in batting, but has a very pretty style withal.

M. FAITHFUL (University) is a really good bowler, and bowls with great judgment as to pace and pitch ; will be THE great bowler of N. S. Wales. Is a dangerous man with the bat ; hits well to the on ; but does not make the best use of height. Not a brilliant field.

E. GREGORY (Warwick) is a most indefatigable batsman, and invariably makes runs for his colony. Has any amount of nerve ; is a splendid field anywhere ; can bowl very well, at times, when required.

D. GREGORY (Warwick) has improved wonderfully with the bat ; has a strong defence, and hits well all round. Bowls well, but has, at times, a very questionable delivery. Like his brother can field just "a wee."

C. GREGORY (Warwick), another brother, is about the best fieldsman in the team. Bats well, and can bowl.

R. HEWITT (Warwick), like Goldsmith, makes great innings at times, and at others does nothing. Is about the best wicket-keeper in the colonies, and is a magnificent field anywhere. Bowls slows with great success at times.

G. MOORE (Maitland) bowls slow, round-arm, with great spin, and wonderful good length. Plays with a straight bat. Is also a very safe catch.

E. SHERIDAN has a very showy style of batting; cuts exceedingly well, but has considerably fallen off. Bowls a very deceptive ball, when on the wicket. Is also a good field.

NAT. THOMPSON (Albert), Captain of the team. Is one of the most useful men in the N. S. Wales team. Has a fine style of batting, and drives well both to the off and on. Is also a very good bowler, with an easy delivery. Is a good wicket-keeper, and can, like Hewitt, field anywhere.

CAPTAINS OF INTERCOLONIAL MATCHES.

W. Philpott was the first Victorian captain; since then W. J. Hammersley has acted once, T. W. Wills eight times, G. Marshall twice, R. W. Wardill once, and G. Gibson once.

On the N. S. Wales side G. Gilbert was the first commander of their forces, and has acted in that capacity five times; Capt. Ward twice, C. Lawrence seven times, and Nat. Thompson once (the last match).

MELBOURNE UNIVERSITY V. SYDNEY UNIVERSITY.

24th, 26th, and 27th DECEMBER.

This, the first contest between the Universities of each colony, was played on the M.C.C. ground, but at no time was there any great attendance. Solicitor Dan. Wilkie captained the Melbourne University, whilst the "terror" of the New South Wales bushrangers, "Monty" Faithful, did like duty for the elder alma mater. Coming events, they say, cast their shadows before. So, in time, unless public enthusiasm brightens up a bit, the University Match will take the place of the Intercolonial Matches. R. Teece and E. Iceton were the first to appear at the wickets, on behalf of Sydney U., to the bowling of Jennings (left) and Macpherson; but these two young gentlemen were soon superseded by the brothers Wilkie (slow and fast). Teece was the first to visit the pavilion, but not before he had scored a dozen. Iceton, after scoring 16, was well caught off the slows. Faithful, after scoring 18, very stupidly ran himself out. Coates played a dashing innings for 24, when he was magnificently caught and bowled by the captain. R. Sly quickly put together 14, and was then had off the slows. Long, not out, 6. Total 109. Goldsmith and A'Beckett appeared first at the wickets for the Melbourne U., to the bowling of Coates and Faithful. Goldsmith set to work in real earnest, and obtained runs in all directions; but A'Beckett popped one up into point's hands, and retired for five, whilst the captain was immediately bowled with one well up by Coates for nil. [Of course the ball would have bowled ANY MAN (?).] Hepburn put together 13 very nicely, before he sought the cool shades of the verandah. T. Iceton relieved his captain with the ball, the latter having damaged his shoulder. Iceton bowled "Goldie" with a good one for 41, all got in good cricketing style. Macpherson (not he of Lands) went in for slogging, and quickly put 11 together, when Iceton found his way amongst his sticks. At the call of time, the two last men, Jennings and Johnson, were not out. Total 87. On resuming, Jennings managed to keep his wicket up (but certainly not after the style of Caffyn), and Johnson made the most of his hitting abilities. J. Teece relieved Coates, and Jennings was had at point from his first ball, scoring 9; Johnson carrying his bat for a really well-played innings of 23. Total 107. Sydney two ahead on the first innings. (Curious fact that the first innings of the Intercolonial Match at Sydney should have ended in the same result.) Teece and Iceton again opened the proceedings for the elder University, to the bowling of the brothers Wilkie. Iceton was soon had at point for 5. Teece again played a good innings for 15, before he tried Jennings's tenacious powers. T. Iceton, with his captain as companion, played a fine spirited innings for 26, when he let one of Dave Wilkie's pass him. Faithful and Coates kept the field alive, and caused Hepburn to relieve the slow bowler. This change was most effective, as Faithful was well caught off him at mid-on, but not before he had scored 37. Coates was the only one able to play "Languid Tom's" bowling; but even he was had at last, at cover point off him, for 27. Hepburn secured six wickets for 23 runs: his performance was first-class. Macpherson got one wicket. Long again being the not-out man, with 0. Total 127. Goldsmith and Dave Wilkie were the first to start to rub off the 130 to get to win, and right well did they perform, 57 being on the board when Goldsmith was caught off Faithful for 36. This innings was an excellent exhibition of brilliant hitting, and served the side well. Dave Wilkie also obtained 17, by very careful play, when he found Faithful's invitation to repose overpowering. A'Beckett and Hepburn were the two not out men for the evening. A'Beckett played well, ably assisted by his partner. On resuming, Faithful relieved Hepburn from any further toils, by getting him l.b.w. for 15. The captain just managed to get one to perfect the "eye-glass" (commenced in the first innings), when he was had in the slips. Coates's bowling was anything but A 1, and the captain lost the match through keeping him on too long. His bowling just suited A'Beckett, who kept making splendid on drives off him for fours, scoring no less than six of them. When three were required to win, T. Iceton relieved Coates, and, off his first, A'Beckett made a magnificent square-leg hit for 4, thus winning the match by two wickets. There is but little doubt that the really fine display of batting by A'Beckett in this innings was the chief cause of the M. U. scoring a win. The bowling of Faithful was A 1, securing 7 wickets for 19 runs. Neither side played a wicket-keeper, which is not up to University form in the mother country. The Sydney men ought to have won, being the better eleven, taken all round.

"And now my tongue the climax tells,
The match was won by the Melbourne swells."

Mr. F. P. Miller acted umpire for the Sydney team, and Colonel Ward did like duty for the Melbourne U.

THE CUP MATCHES.

No doubt but that the Cup Matches were productive of some first-class cricket, and it was only to be regretted that more clubs did not join the Cup confederacy—(Carlton, Ballarat, and Corio to wit). The first match, v. South Melbourne, was an easy win for the Metropolitan eleven. Osborne's bowling for the Hillites was very fine. Conway, although in fine form, did not obtain a wicket. The second match, v. East Melbourne, was productive of long scores on both sides. Gibson, Wardill, Phillips, Wills, and Loughnan, jun., making good scores for the M.C.C.; and for the juniors, Campbell, Wilkie, Riggall, and Williams doing great execution. The M.C.C. had all their work cut out to win the match; and had not Darke been absent in the second innings, the little game might have not come off. The third match, v. fifteen of South Melbourne, was another easy win for the M.C.C.; Wardill, Cameron, Wills, and Loughnan, jun., again batting well for the elder club. Osborne, Conway, and M'Gan all bowled in first-class form; but the fielding of their side was not up to the mark. For the Hill, Patterson, Chessell, and Yuille played well; but the bowling of Wills, Wardill, and Reid was too good for the majority. The fourth match, v. fifteen of East Melbourne, was a clencher for the M.C.C.; for had not the services of one Barnes been retained for the juniors! Goldsmith, Jennings, and Allee played well for the E.M.; but the M.C.C. were quickly sent to the right-about by Barnes, for the ridiculous score of 29; the highest scorers being Cooper and Wills, with 8 and 6 respectively. In the second innings, the M.C.C. totted up 108, with two absentees; Wardill, Kelly, Cameron, and Phillips playing well. The fielding of the M.C.C. was wretched. East Melbourne won in one innings and 38 runs; and the Cup passed into their hands for the winter. The public took great interest in the several matches, the ground being generally well patronised.

CRICKET CLUBS IN VICTORIA.

For the merits of players whose averages appear in this Guide, the reader will please refer to the Tables of Averages.

---

ASCOT VALE.—Mr. James Robertson, sen., President; Mr. G. Macartney, Hon. Sec.

BALLARAT.—Mr. D. Sweeney, President; Mr. R. Foote, Hon. Sec. Numbers about 80 members, and under Cosstick's tuition the playing members have much improved. Played two matches with East Melbourne, both of which they lost. Two with S. Melbourne; won one, lost one. One with the M.C.C., which they won. The ground will be in fine order for the in-coming season.

BENDIGO UNITED.—Mr. John Watson, President; Mr. G. F. Walter, Hon. Sec. Numbers 70 members. Lost their match v. E.M. by one run, also their match v. S. Melbourne by one run; were also defeated by the Carlton. Their ground on Back Creek is in good order.

BELFAST.—Mr. E. G. Yorke, President; Mr. Thomas Southcombe, Hon. Sec. Numbers 30 members. Played only one match during the season, which was lost.

CARLTON.—Mr. D. Hardy, President; Mr. R. M'Farland, Hon. Sec. Numbers 60 members, and expects an influx of new blood. Possesses the two best colts of the past season, in Blackham and Horan. The excellence of their ground is chiefly owing to the great exertions of Messrs. Craven and Dedman.

COLLINGWOOD COMMERCIAL.—Mr. C. Ballard, Hon. Sec. This club has done well during the past season. Gay was engaged nearly the whole time, and no doubt much of the club's success is due to him. Played 13 matches; won 8, lost 1, and 4 were drawn.

CORIO.—Mr. J. J. Buckland, President; Mr. F. Martin, Hon. Sec. Numbers 60 members. Won two matches against S. Melbourne, and lost one v. E. Melbourne. The ground is in passable order.

EARLY CLOSING ASSOCIATION. (New club).—Mr. J. D. Morris, Hon Sec.

MELBOURNE CRICKET CLUB.—Mr. D. C. M'Arthur, President; Mr. W. H. Handfield, Hon. Sec. Numbers 188 members. The play of the first eleven was not quite up to par last season, owing principally to the loose style of practice indulged in, some six or seven bowlers being frequently allowed to bowl at one wicket. Played 7 matches: won 4, lost 2, 1 drawn. The ground has been well tended during the winter by Rowley Newberry.

EAST MELBOURNE.—Mr. Owen C. Williams, Hon. Sec. Numbers 60 members. Played 24 matches (first and second eleven); won 14, lost 4, and 6 were drawn. The first eleven lost ONE match only. Far the best batting team of the season. Have had a new fence put up on the northern side of their ground during the recess. The turf looks very fine.

ST. KILDA.—Mr. J. E. Moss, Hon. Sec. Every cricketer will be glad to hear of the resuscitation of this once famous club. Already 60 members have joined.

RICHMOND.—Hon. J. G. Francis, President: Mr. A. M. Madden, Hon. Sec. This club has greatly fallen off from its old form, but still has hopes of better times.

PRINCE OF WALES.—Mr. W. Field, Hon Sec. The first eleven have played 11 matches; won 8, lost 1, and 2 drawn. The second eleven have played 7 matches; won 3, lost 2, and 2 drawn. Numbers 80 members. T. Smart has played in 11 innings, and averages 15 8-11 per innings; D. Murray in 5 ditto, 14½ ditto; J. Clarke in 9 ditto, 9½ ditto? W. Field in 11 ditto, 8 ditto.

SOUTH MELBOURNE.—Mr. Sandilands, President; Mr. W. Runting, Hon. Sec. Numbers 100 members. Have been most unfortunate with their matches. Played 13; won 3, lost 6, and 4 drawn. Have had their pavilion finished and a new fence erected around the ground during the winter, and Gay, who has been engaged by the club, has given every attention to the playing ground during the recess.

WAREHOUSEMEN'S.—Mr. G. Stephenson, President; Mr. D. Irvine, Hon. Sec. Numbers 195 members. (Confined solely to the employees of the various warehouses in Melbourne). Played 7 matches for the President's Cup, which was ultimately won by Banks Brothers Bell and Co.'s team, and presented by them to Mr. Bell.

WARRNAMBOOL.—Mr. S. M'Gregor, President; Mr. C. Kinger, Hon. Sec. This club has a new ground, which has not yet been formed. They contemplate sending a challenge to the M.C. this season. This is always a pleasant outing.

OTHER CLUBS.—Ararat, Beechworth, Gisborne, Hawthorne, Hotham, Hamilton, Kew, Malvern, Maryborough, Press, Portland, Queenscliff, Surrey, South Yarra, Taradale, Wangaratta, West End (Geelong,) and Williamstown.

SCHOOLS, &c.—Church of England Grammar School, Melbourne and Geelong. Scotch College, ditto. Wesley College, St. Kilda Road.

CORIO CRICKET CLUB.

During the recess this club's ground has been relaid, and is expected to be in good order for the coming season. A curator resides on the ground, and, marvellous to relate, the club has a large credit balance at the bank, about the only one that has. It numbers 60 members, and Mr. F. Martin is the hon. sec.

The past season has been a tolerably busy one; nevertheless, a great many more matches might easily have been played, had more members taken an active interest in the game. As it was, in the beginning of the season only about fourteen or fifteen members used to put in an appearance; and it was only towards the close that second and third-rate matches, arranged for the special benefit of older players, caused a more general interest to be taken in cricket. These muff matches, as they are called, were the means of doing a great amount of good. They induced gentlemen to join, who probably, otherwise, would never have thought of such a thing, and by so doing led them to visit the ground on the weekly practice days, and by their presence encourage the best players of the club. The number of members is now larger than ever it has been. There are funds in hand; the ground is in fine order; the trees, so kindly planted by Mr. Bunce, are thriving apace; and next year one may expect to see the ground a more attractive place of resort than ever. During the past season the club has played nine matches, out of which they have won seven and lost two. The first match of importance played was that against South Melbourne, at Melbourne, and won by the Corio, thanks to the magnificent batting and bowling of Wills, by 40 runs. This was the only match in which Wills played for the Corio last season. He got 49 runs, and bowled seven wickets for 34. Next came the East Melbourne match, which was lost by the Corio by 40 runs. Another defeat followed, the United Schools managing to win their first match by 7 runs. Then luck changed, the members of the eleven settled down to their work, and won six matches in succession. They defeated the Banks by 7 runs, and then again by a couple of singles. The Winchelsea match came next, and although played at Winchelsea, was won by Geelong, who only sent up ten men, by 68 runs. The Winchelsea players then came down to Geelong and received a double thrashing, they only succeeding in scoring 61 to 243, the largest score ever made by eleven men in Geelong in one innings. After defeating the United Schools by 9 runs, the men of Corio were called upon to show what they could do against South Melbourne, and again they achieved a most signal victory. Osborne, one of the great guns of Melbourne, was bowling; but, notwithstanding all his efforts, Geelong scored 113 in their first innings to 32 and 64. In the batting, Booth comes first on the list, he having secured the splendid average of 28·2. Altogether, he scored 114 runs; his innings of 83 against Whittlesea being one of the finest ever witnessed in Geelong. Rippon was in fine form last season, and played in more matches than any member of the club. He scored 218 runs, and secured an average of 27·2; his best performances being against East and South Melbourne, against whom he secured an average of 74. Riddle comes third with 12·3; his best being against Winchelsea, when by some really good batting he made 40 runs in one innings. He was unfortunate in being run out once or twice when "well set," but he displayed more freedom of style than in previous years. The fourth on the list is M'Auley, who, however, has only averaged 9·3. He is one of the most reliable bats of the club, and much greater things must be anticipated from him for the future. With regard to the other batsmen, it is not necessary to make any comment, the total number of runs scored by them being rather small. In bowling, Rippon has secured the best average; but then it will be seen that he has not bowled half so many balls as Sutton, and it may also be stated that he did not bowl in the most important matches. Sutton is far and away the best bowler of the club, and it is doubtful if he is to be surpassed in Melbourne. He bowled very true throughout the season, and shot and broke in a manner that fairly stuck up the best batsmen, most of whom agreed that he was decidedly more difficult to play than Osborne. One of his best performances was that against Winchelsea, when he bowled down seven wickets for six runs. The men of South Melbourne, men accustomed to stand up against Conway, M'Gann, and Osborne, could do nothing with him ; his average in the first innings of that match being 57 balls, 12 runs, 2 maidens, and 8 wickets, or the small average of  $1\frac{1}{2}$  runs to a wicket. He is certainly worth a trial in the intercolonial practice 22, and next year we hope to see him accorded a place in it. He is also one of the smartest fields in the colony, being especially good in the slips. Whilst on the subject of fielding, it has been acknowledged on all sides that the fielding of the Corio compares favourably with that of the metropolitan clubs, and than J. Rose at mid-wicket there could not be a better man. He is very active, is a sure catch, and returns quickly. M'Auley at cover point and long leg is very good. Montgomery is smart at point and third man, and Riddle as longstop allows very few byes to be made. J. Highett is also good out and away from the wicket ; and, to sum up, if they would only practise a little more in this portion of the game, the club could turn out an excellent fielding eleven.

REMARKS ON PLAYERS.

ALLEE, C. G. (E.M.).—A useful bat ; dangerous when he gets set ; but too much addicted to slogging. The useful bowler of the Club. A fair wicket-keeper.

BENNETT, J. (Ballarat).—Fell off greatly in his batting last season. A capital point.

BANKS, J. (Warehouse).—A passable bat ; can be depended on for runs. A fair field, and good change bowler.

BALLARD, C. (Coll. Com.).—A good bowler and fair field ; should, however, take more pains with his batting.

BESWICK, J. (Bendigo).—A good medium pace round-arm bowler, with good length ; a good bat ; but only so-so as a field.

BISHOP, H. (Carlton).—An improving bat ; one of the best long-stops in the colony. Would make a first-class player with tuition.

BOYLE, H. (Bendigo).—The bowler of the Club ; bowls with great judgment, and ought to have a trial on the M.C.C. ground. A good bat ; hits well to square-leg. Is also an excellent wicket-keeper.

BLACKHAM, J. (Carlton).—A very steady bat, and can be depended upon for runs ; plays with confidence. Is a good field ; being, with Horan, the best colt of the season.

BLAIR (S.M.).—A regular slogger ; generally gets runs. A good point, and a medium keeper of the sticks.

BOOTH (Corio).—A good bat, and very brilliant field. With practice, would be A 1.

BRISCOE (Warehouse).—A very useful bat ; an average bowler, and active field.

CAMPBELL, D. (E.M.).—One of the best bats and fields in the colony ; did not play much ; but made the largest score of the season—123, against Ballarat. Is also a fair bowler.

CAMERON, V. L. (M.C.C.).—A very good bat ; hits well to leg, only too fond of going off his ground. A good bowler, with unquestionable delivery.

CAZALY O. (Ballarat).—A steady bat ; a good man to break the bowling.

CONWAY, J. (S.M.).—Has come back to his old form in bowling last season, but still is deficient in head work ; also batted very well. Has met with an accident, which may keep him from playing for some time.

DALY, J. (Bendigo).—A good change bowler, with great spin ; a steady bat, but an indifferent field.

FIGGIS, W. H. (Ballarat).—One of the best bats in the colony ; hits remarkably well all round ; is, also, an excellent field ; can bowl either fast or slow (under). A good man in any team.

FIGGIS, B. J. (Ballarat).—Can bowl a bit ; a very hard hitter ; good field.

FORRESTER, C. (E.M.).—Has been promoted to the first eleven ; a promising bat ; but his bowling did not come up to the expectations of his friends.

FULLERTON (Warehouse).—A good hard hitter, and a very good field.

GAY, H. (S.M.).—A very straight bowler, and at times very difficult to play ; is, also, a good bat and excellent field.

GREY, R. (S.M.).—A very steady bat, and is the making of an A 1 player ; not particularly brilliant in the field.

GIBSON, G. (M.C.C.).—Has fallen off in his batting ; good wicket keeper ; but not noticeably active in any other position.

GLEN, J. (Bendigo).—Bats somewhat after the style of Wills, and gets runs ; a sure catch, and a good change bowler ; has changed from under to round arm.

HANDFIELD, W. H. (M.C.C.).—Is a good man in a team, being a very dangerous bat, and also a good underhand slow bowler ; should bowl oftener for his club.

HEPBURN (University).—Can bat a little when he puts aside the dolce far niente style ; bowls a good ball ; careless in the field.

HORAN, T. (Carlton).—A fine bat, with very pretty style ; can bowl, and is an excellent field. Will be heard of again.

HAILES (Coll. Com.).—A very steady bat, and a useful bowler ; should practise a little more.

JAMES, B. (Carlton).—A good bowler, with a very peculiar delivery ; also bowls slows with great effect ; is a dangerous bat, and a moderate field.

JAMES, F. (Carlton).—Is the making of a fine bowler, if he does not overbowl himself ; a very hard hitter, but hits across ; fair field.

JENNINGS, H. (E.M.).—A left hand batter and bowler ; occasionally makes a score ; has the makings of a bat ; as a bowler not much account ; a very fine field.

JOHNSON (University).—Will, if he continues to play, make a fine batsman ; is also an excellent field.

LOUGHNAN, ANDREW (M.C.C.).—Is a good leg hitter ; defence not good ; a good field.

MARSHALL (Hotham).—A good bat, and can be relied on for runs ; also, a fair change bowler.

M'GIBBON (Hotham).—A good under-hand bowler ; very effective at times. Is also a hard hitter.

MADDEN (Richmond).—A fair bat ; has room for improvement. A medium bowler, and good field.

MORTIMER, E. (Richmond).—A very dangerous bat ; seldom played last season ; can bowl a little, and is a good wicket-keeper.

MIDWINTER, W. (Bendigo).—A fine wristy player, with strong defence ; style somewhat after Mullagh ; has any amount of patience. A good change bowler and field ; should, like Boyle, have a trial on the Metropolitan ground.

M'GAN, B. (S.M.).—Has a good style of batting, but is very unfortunate. Bowls slows (left hand) with a frightful break ; should use his head a little more ; fields fairish.

NEWING (Warehouse).—A good all-round player, and a useful man in a team ; a fine field.

OSBORNE, N. (S.M.).—A very useful bowler, being generally dead on ; an umpire, however, may occasionally find fault with his delivery ; no bat, and only moderate in the field.

PERRYMAN, W. (E.M.).—Generally gets runs, but no style ; is a good field, and moderate change bowler.

PHILLIPS, J. (M.C.C.).—Not a pretty batsman to watch for an afternoon, but can be relied on for runs ; not partial to slows ; is a first-class long-stop, and passable wicket-keeper.

RIGGALL, W. (E.M.).—Has fallen off greatly in his batting ; is a capital field, and a very good change bowler ; is not tried enough.

RIDDLE, H. (Corio).—Has not an elegant style of batting, but can make runs ; is a reliable long-stop.

RIPPON, G. R. (Corio).—Is a very dangerous batsman, and a good point ; as a bowler, when on, is most difficult to play.

SIMMONDS, W.—A very safe bat, but had little practice ; a first-class long-stop, and a good point.

SHUM, A. F. (Bendigo).—A fair bat, but out of practice ; at times bowls exceedingly well.

SUTTON (Corio).—One of the best bowlers in the colony ; bowls with great spin and break ; a good field, but weak in batting.

SWEENEY, DAN. (Ballarat).—Has a strong defence, but practises very little ; is about the best wicket-keeper in the colony ; also, an excellent judge of the game.

TEMPLETON (Warehouse).—About the best bowler in the club, with high delivery and medium pace ; a tolerable bat.

KELLY, T. D. (M.C.C.).—Practised but little last season ; has fallen off greatly with the bat ; not such a wonder at point as he used to be.

WARDILL, R. W. (M.C.C.).—Not so good as usual last season, but generally will have runs if they are to be got ; fields well at times, but should not over-run the ball so much ; a change bowler.

WILKIE, DAN. (E.M.).—Has great confidence in himself, and generally scores ; has lost his bowling form ; not over active in the field.

WILLS, T. W. (M.C.C.).—A reliable bat, ugly style ; as a bowler is generally dead on ; should be watched for his chucks ; a good catch, but rather stiff in the field.

WILSON, J. L. (M.C.C.).—Has greatly fallen off in his batting ; bowls a good ball ; not over lithe in the field.

WILKIE DAVE (University).—A dangerous bat, and a very puzzling bowler ; should practice this department of the game.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

LEADING TOWN AND COUNTRY CLUBS.

ALBERT.—This club plays on the Albert Cricket Ground, situate at Redfern, about two miles from the city. This ground does not belong to the club, but to a company, who lease the ground to clubs for matches, as well as for sports, &c. On this ground the last Intercolonial Match came off, and is a great improvement on the old "Domain." It is enclosed with a high close fence, and has a very elegant pavilion for the use of members, players, &c. ; also has a permanent grand stand, large enough to accommodate about 4000 persons, underneath which is situate the luncheon-room and two bars. The turf is like a billiard-table, but does not play quite true yet ; but time will improve that. The club, from being the premier club, has fallen off about as much as the "old Richmond" has in Victoria—all the best players having left Sydney.

DOMAIN.—This was the great trysting ground till last year for the Intercolonial contests, and nearly every club of note about Sydney has a practice thereon ; and the ground presents quite a gay scene on a summer's afternoon, and it's "look-out, ' Sir," from all directions.

WARWICK.—About the strongest club in N. S. W. Numbers amongst its members the Gregory brothers, Hewitt, Banerman, &c.

UNIVERSITY.—Is said to be equal to the Warwick Club. Has a ground of its own near the University. Numbers many good players.

MILITARY AND CIVIL SERVICE.—Has a ground of its own near Paddington, which, like all Sydney grounds, has a splendid turf.

SYDNEY (a new club).—Has a ground in Moore Park, and expected to flourish this year ; has a great many influential names amongst its members.

BATHURST (Country).—A very strong club, and give any of the metropolitans all their work to do to lick them.

PARRAMATTA (Country).—This club has a very fine ground to play on, and is considered strong.

NEWCASTLE (Country).—This club is very strong, amongst its players being C. Lawrence, Blair, Readett, Tracy, Beeston, and other good names ; the ground, however, has been spoiled, owing to the playing portion having been top-dressed with coal cinders.

MAITLAND.—Another strong club, also has a fine ground, and possess many good players, especially the two “old veterans,” Geo. Gilbert and Geo. Moore.

The compiler, although having written to Sydney several times, has been unable to get any cricketing information therefrom, and, in consequence, many clubs have been omitted.

CRICKET IN SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

(From the “Australasian.”)

“A MEETING was held during the winter recess at the Prince Alfred Hotel, Adelaide, Mr. J. A. Ferguson in the chair. The object was for finally deciding the basis upon which the Association should be formed, and to elect office-bearers. The report of the preliminary committee was read. It was recommended that the Association should comprise a president, 12 vice-presidents, and a committee of 17 members of the Association (including treasurer and secretary), to be elected by ballot at each general meeting.

“His Excellency Sir James Ferguson had kindly consented to become president, and headed the subscription list. The following gentlemen were appointed vice-presidents:—Mr. Justice Gwynne, Sir J. Morphett, the Hon. H. Ayers, Hon. J. Hart, Hon. J. Barrow, Messrs. J. A. Ferguson, F. G. Smith, E. T. Smith, C. Balk, H. E. Bright, J. H. Clark, and W. B. T. Andrews.

“The Association is endeavouring to obtain a lease of 10 acres for 14 years of the North Park lands, with exclusive use, and in the event of this being done, the South Australian Cricket Club had agreed to relinquish all right to the ground and fixtures for a certain sum which would clear the liabilities, as they had spent besides over £200 on the property. It appears that subscriptions had already been received to the amount of £150. The chairman alluded to various matters, such as early practice in the morning, referring to the custom of practising in India directly the sun was up. A challenge to this colony had been suggested in one of the papers, and the chairman thought that if they commenced the season in September or October, and had regular practice, they would be able to bring a tolerable eighteen to meet Victoria. The chairman further remarked that the most serious thing to consider was how to lay out their capital, and the great thing, to get in donations. A gentleman present asked if the association would derive any revenue from the ground on the park lands, as in Melbourne, and thought they should try and obtain some aid of that kind. Mr. Gwynne, in reply, said they could do nothing without going to the Legislature, as the corporation had no power to lease a piece of ground from which revenue could be derived, but the proposed measure would be adopted to secure that object as soon as possible. The following resolution was then put and carried:—‘That each club in the colony be entitled to send one representative to every five of its members who are subscribers to the Association, the number of representatives from one club in no case to exceed three.’ Mr. J. Colton was appointed treasurer, and Mr. J. Pickering secretary, and a preliminary committee was appointed to act until a regular one should be constituted.”

All cricketers will heartily wish their brethren of the willow across the Border great success in their undertaking. And, as will be seen by the above extract, the committee are all men of mark, so the affair has all the germs of success.

THE TASMANIAN MATCH.

THIS match was played on the M.C.C. ground, and confined solely to amateurs. Ever since the commencement of the matches with the “bright little island,” the public seem to have taken little or no interest in them; in fact, the quality of cricket shown has not been worth the outlay. The islanders must get some one to coach them into form (they have lots of cricket in them), before they can vie with Victoria in the cricket field. They once, it is said, engaged a professional from Victoria; but one fine day, when wanted for a match, he was found standing on his head under Mount Wellington. He was evidently not the sort of man they wanted. It is, therefore, just probable that these matches will be broken off till better times. But to the match. The islanders were the first to go to the wickets, and before the last wicket fell the telegraph board showed the respectable score of 103, Davies, the captain, obtaining 11, by steady play; Barnes contributed 36 by hard hitting, but ought to have been out once or twice ; Thomas, a very young 'un, also shewed that he had the real makings of a batsman ; Fergusson carried his bat for a well obtained score of 25 ; Reid and Allan did all the bowling ; the fielding of the team was very bad. For Victoria, Loughnan, jun., obtained 24 ; B. B. Cooper, 22 ; and Phillips, 22 ; total, 129. Barrett bowled remarkably well for the islanders, but Barnes, Butler, and Bailey (all fast bowlers), could not hold the ball, owing to the ball being wet and slippery, caused by the rain which had fallen at intervals during the game ; their fielding was very good. In their second innings, the Tasmanians were all abroad, Reid doing as he liked with them ; and their attempt to play M'Gan's slows was perfectly ludicrous. They could only manage to get 36 for their joint efforts, the captain being the only man who could get into double figures, leaving the Victorians 11 runs to get to win, which they obtained without the loss of a wicket.

SINGLE WICKET MATCHES.

THE first two speak for themselves ; but the next—Four of Victoria v. Four of N. S. Wales—was productive of some capital cricket. Fowler's grand display of batting will long be remembered by those who had the good fortune to be on the M.C.C. ground whilst the match was going on ; Conway's bowling was also very fine, and Caffyn proved that he had not forgotten how the willow ought to be handled. The next match—Three of Victoria v. Three of N. S. Wales, played on the Albert Ground, Sydney—was one of the most exciting matches ever played, the Victorians managing to pull through with one wicket. The last match—played by the same three Victorians v. the Gregory Brothers—was won by the Brothers ; but had the Victorians used a little judgment in making a judicious change in the bowling, the match might have gone the other way. Since the above match was played Caffyn has gone ; and 'tis said one of his objects in going is to bring the Graces to play the Gregorys, but 'tis opined that his principal object in going home is to STOP there. So it is just possible the Victorian public will have to seek the "Graces" in the fruit shops, and not on the M.C.C. ground.

HINTS TO PLAYERS.

CRICKET can never be learnt from any book ; one half-hour's bowling from a good man will do both the beginner and the proficient more good than all the reading on the game in the world. So, instead of giving the usual "Guide" advice to players, especially learners, I shall give a few useful remarks only, and commence with

BOWLING.

This department of the game, and in fact the principal one, can never be taught, it must come to a man intuitively ; but, should one be able to bowl, he can be taught to practice length, pitch, and pace, and when once this is accomplished he may then be advanced to the most difficult part, that is, the art of being able to bowl a high-dropping ball which appears to the batsman to be coming right up to him, but which in reality drops short, out of hitting distance, and is in consequence the most difficult ball for the BEST of batsmen to have to deal with.

A man should never bowl beyond his pace (strength), if he does so he will of a surety lose his bowling form, if not altogether, at any rate for a season or so ; examples of this over-bowling power have occurred even in this country. A fast one now and then is very apt to catch the batsman napping, and is very well once in a way. To be on the SPOT all bowlers should, if possible, bowl half-a-dozen balls at least during every afternoon, but should not bowl more than half-an-hour the day prior to any match they may be required for. Bowling also, after one is tired, will take all spin or work off the ball ; although pitch may be good, "there's nothing in it," as Caffyn would say—"it's as plain as melted butter."

Every bowler should endeavour to find out a batsman's weak point as soon as possible. If he has never bowled to a man before, the best ball to start with is a good length one, or one rather short between the leg and the wicket ; but, if he be not afraid of getting a crack, one well up into the crease will often prove a perisher.

Never change your style of delivery, for those who first try one and then another generally go to the wall. Underhand bowling, to be good, should be bowled with a sort of a slow wristy shove from the elbow, as Wilkie used to bowl some few seasons back.

BATTING.

Nearly every cricketer wishes to excel in batting, and yet how few really do. In the first place, the stand at the wicket is the great point; make the most of your height, stand as erect as possible, both feet together, but properly balanced. Copy such men as Messrs. W. and D. Campbell, Robertson, or Mullagh; the latter, if anything, having the grandest style of any one in these colonies. Most young players (and several might have been seen in the Tasmanian team) take up a position as if they were POINTING the bowler, or lying in ambush for an easy ball; in fact, crouch down with their eyes just on a level with the top of the bat handle. Forward play cannot be recommended as a rule, unless the wickets are particularly good; the half play is far the best. G. Parr, one of England's greatest batsmen, played in this style, seldom before his toes. Never play at the PITCH, but watch the ball and play at it. Mullagh, the aboriginal, used to do it to perfection; he scarcely ever nicked a ball, but put the face of the bat full on to it. Batsmen have often said, "Why, I played perfectly straight, yet the ball beat me, how's that?" Simply because they have played straight up and down the wicket, and not at the ball as they should do, never allowing for either twist or break, as the case might be. Never hit at a straight ball, however tempting it may be, it might shoot, or else one might possibly hit across, and then that horrid sound would be heard behind. Have patience, and balls will come that may be hit at with perfect safety. Note Phillips's patience, and how he is rewarded with long scores and lots of practice into the bargain. Neither Carpenter nor Hayward would ever be tempted with a straight one. So, gentlemen, play THE game. Never be tempted into a too elaborate or elegant style of batting; adopt the easiest to yourself, so that you may be able to get your bat down quick upon the ball. Many are bowled while they are going through the preliminary flourish. It may be awfully jolly to have it said what a splendid style Mr. Nemo has, if he could only get some runs. The tout ensemble of the man at the wicket is worth seeing, but those awful SPECS don't win a match. So, gentlemen, for a match give me the men that make the runs, and keep the style for practice ; it does not much matter how often your wicket falls there ; you have not to face a pavilion full of smiling faces, and no familiar voice, or bantering friend to ask you how you managed to get THAT duck. In cutting at an off ball I should recommend the player to put his right leg across, and not the left as some do ; by putting the right across, the full weight of the body goes on to the ball, not so the other way. But at all times be patient ; play in practice as you would in a match.

FIELDING.

The most taking part of the game to the spectators is the fielding. But how few there be who can and do really field well. Robertson, W. Campbell, and Don Campbell, being about the only exceptions at the long distances. Be always on the watch, and come to the ball hands down. When fielding either leg or cover-point, lose no time in returning the ball ; either throw in on the first bound, or right on to the top of the wicket. Wicket-keeper and long-stop are two most necessary men in the team, in fact many a match has been lost when a team tries to do without one or the other of them. A good point is of great assistance to his side, and should ever be on the watch, and move according to the batsman's play. Short-slip also should watch diligently every ball bowled, for many a snick is past him before he has begun to think of the ball at all. Never stand with your hands in your pockets. All fieldsmen should keep their eye on the captain, to watch for change of position, so as to be able to change about without the batsman's knowledge, if possible.

RUNNING BETWEEN WICKETS.

The most disgusting and uncricket-like way of getting out, is being run out. Never be over anxious. The non-striker, unless the ball be hit forward, has the call. If he calls, the strikers must both run at once, as hard as they can. Never stop, as delay is dangerous. Many men are run out by indecision. The batsman should never look round if he hits the ball behind the wicket, but look at the callsman. Do not leave your wicket (backing up) before the bowler has delivered the ball. In the Inter-colonial Matches (14) no less than 49 have been run out—Victoria losing 29 wickets. So “Keep your hand and eye both steady,

Count your chances one by one ;
To score a point be always ready,
Yet be careful how you run.”

HINTS TO UMPIRES.

IN the first place, the umpires (men of experience) should be chosen before the sides meet on the ground to commence proceedings ; for it generally turns out that the “pick-ups” make sad blunders, and, consequently, many a match is lost through their errors, although fallen into with the best intentions.

At the bowler’s wicket the umpire has to watch the bowler’s foot, that it is not over the crease, or outside the return crease. He has to watch the bowler, with reference to Law 10, that he does not throw or jerk ; he has, also, to watch the pitch (in case of an appeal for l.b.w.), and to judge whether the ball would break away or hit the wicket.

To count overs correctly, use shillings or pence. Be sure the bowler bowls no more or less than the 4 or 6 balls he may be entitled to.

Call “no ball” the instant the toe is on or over the crease, or thrown (ball delivered). Some bowlers can also deliver the ball, with the foot that should be on the ground raised at the time of delivery.

To be out “leg before wicket”—first the ball must pitch straight (straight, that is, not merely from hand to wicket, but straight actually from wicket to wicket) ; secondly, you must be satisfied that no “breaking” away or sudden rise would have prevented the ball from hitting the wicket, if not stopped by the leg. Such is the law. With round-arm bowling “leg before wicket” can very rarely occur—much more rarely than is commonly decided. On this point opinions differ, so let every round-arm bowler join the near stump of his own wicket with the opposite stump of the other wicket by a white thread, and then try if he can ever hit the wicket with a good length ball that does not pitch outside that line, and, consequently, not straight from wicket to wicket. Without a "break-back" the thing is impossible with any but an over-pitched ball (or, perhaps, a shooter may be added), provided the bowler does not deliver "over the wicket."

Leg-byes should be called aloud to the scorers, by the umpire at the bowler's wicket, as soon as the run is made. The bowler's umpire, also, is the proper party to give notice of byes to the scorers—best done by holding up the hand.

"Wide balls" depend not on the crease, but on being out of the reach of the batsman, a point left entirely for the umpire to decide. Take great care that the bowler does not deliver wide of his return crease; this, in effect, gives the batsman wrong guard, and will spoil any match. Umpires should consider that the real interest of a match is destroyed by one single blunder; the odds of 12 wickets to 11 may result from a single mistake.

In "giving guard," calculate at the spot from where the bowler delivers. After once giving guard the umpire has no right to give fresh guard, unless appealed to, or the bowler change sides.

The question of a catch, either umpire may refer to the other if he himself could not decide.

The umpire at wicket-keeper's end should narrowly watch the foot of the batsman, especially in the "draw," or in "forward" play. He must see that the wicket-keeper does not stump when his foot is before, or head over the wicket, or when the ball has been taken before the wicket.

The wicket-keeper's umpire will stand with most advantage between the two creases, at least 12 yards off; if nearer, and if not between the two lines of the two objects, his eye cannot so easily take in the foot of the batsman, and the hand of the stumper at one view. Look well to "ball in hand," and see that the stumper does not shake off the bail with his toe.

The in-going side may call for roller, immediately the last wicket is down. After one minute has elapsed, an objection may be raised.

The runner cannot be out for running round his ground, instead of through, because the popping-crease is unlimited.

The hitter cannot make his partner "out" by striking the ball through his wicket, unless his partner is off his ground, and the ball touches (and therefore may be supposed to be guided by) the hands of one of the opposite party.

A man may be fairly out by his "arm before wicket." It is enough to be allowed to save your wicket with gloves and hands without allowing arms.

An umpire should not enter into any conversation with either party in a strict match ; it gives him the appearance rather of a partisan than of an impartial umpire.

Should an umpire not give his whole attention to the game, many an anathema will be hurled at his devoted head. It is a thankless billet at the best of times.

THE PROSPECTS OF THE INTER-COLONIAL MATCHES.

THE one great question which naturally suggests itself is, will the Inter-colonial Matches be self-supporting for the next few seasons to come ?

In Sydney there is not the slightest doubt but they can be made so, for it must be remembered that some two seasons back the match was put off till March for their convenience, which, being interpreted, means the best time to DRAW money. And it is also another fact, that when THE match is played in Sydney, the banks, merchants, &c., make holidays for their employés, and the attendance is, without exception, always good, and the association make a good thing out of it. Not so, however, in Melbourne. This March arrangement will NEVER pay, and the committee should at once set to work and strive all they know to get the match played on Boxing-day, as formerly ; but if March suit the Sydney men, let it be March when at Sydney, but in December when played in Melbourne. A fine day, and the match on Boxing-day, and the club's funds would benefit more than they would for any two days' sports that could be got up on the ground. In fact, cricket in Victoria has been made to give place to pedestrianism ; that is to say, if any amount of false running can be denominated by such a healthy title.

If the gentlemen who have the management of cricket in their hands use their power discreetly, and in the suavitor in modo style, cricket solus will be found to be self-supporting, but not unless.

ODDS AND ENDS.

TOM WALKER is said to have been the first man to try round-arm bowling, or "throwing-bowling," as it was termed in those days, but the Humbledon Club put their veto on it. Willes, a Kent man, some twenty years after, has the praise of inventing it, but it never became popular till taken up by W. Lillywhite and Broadbridge. The first lobbing slow bowler was Tom Walker, and there are many "old players" in the country towns of England who can bowl the same style, and nearly as good as old W. Clarke did, and often astonish a really good eleven. Mr. Cazenove bowled the best over on record, having once obtained five wickets, including Parr and Lockyer, in an over of four balls, owing to a mistake of the umpire's. Mr. Cazenove was playing for Oxford against a mixed All England eleven.

Old Lillywhite once bowled 60 balls to Pilch without a run, and the 61st took his wicket.

Fennex is said to have been the first forward player, and also the tutor of Pilch.

Mr. George Younge and Mr. Slocock once got the All England Eleven out for 12 runs only.

Rophingall (Cambridge Freshman) bowled All England Eleven, about 1847, for 13 runs, in Norfolk.

A match was played at Shillinglee, Lord Winterton's Park, in 1855 or '6, between the Shillinglee Club and the Second Surrey Militia, when the latter side were all put out without obtaining a run of any sort. Challis was the bowler. In their second innings they scored 106.

The highest score ever made in England was made by a Mr. Tylecote (now in the Oxford eleven)—404, not out. The highest scores made in the colony of Victoria were made by Messrs. Rippon (Geelong) and John Huddleston—165 (not out) and 142 respectively.

A curious tie match was played at Woking in 1818, when all four innings were the same, viz., 71, 71, 71, 71!

W. Hillyer, the great Kent bowler, once bowled the last three of the Nottingham team out when there was one run required to tie Parr by one.

In a recent match, Oxford v. Cambridge, three men were got out in one over (Cobden's), when two runs would have won the match.

Gid. Elliott, in 1858, at Launceston, bowled 72 balls for two runs and nine wickets.

The furthest known distance that a cricket ball has been thrown in the colonies was 122 yards, by Mr. H. H. Gordon, on the Albert Cricket Ground, Sydney. Dick a Dick, one of the Aboriginal cricketers, threw 120, and often over 110 yards.

W. Buttress, a Cambridge professional, could work a ball more than any one. Old Clarke said of him, "He could do all but make it talk."

Ben Griffiths (the Lion-hitter) has scored the fastest on record, obtaining four sixes in four consecutive balls, bowled by Bennett (of Kent).

In a match played on the Melbourne Ground, John Huddleston, standing in the slips, "caught a swallow," whilst flying past him.

On the Friday before his death, Lillywhite, the "Nonpareil" bowler, bowled the last ball he ever trowled, to the compiler of these remarks, on the Canterbury Cricket Ground, during the Canterbury week.

A man was caught out by Caffyn, at long-slip, off Conway's head, standing short-slip (Wills the bowler), on the M.C.C. Ground.

TALL SCORING.—A wonderful match was played between the Marylebone Club and Ground and the County of Middlesex during the month of June. Before the first two Marylebone batsmen—Smith and Mr. Grace—were parted, 161 runs had been obtained, and the innings closed for the tremendous total of 338 runs. This was nothing, however, to what followed. Mr. Hadow (Oxford eleven), who played for the County, hit 217 runs in five hours and a half, against such bowlers as Farrands, Shaw, W. G. Grace, Brune, Thornton, Yardley, Riddell, and Dale. He made four five's, sixteen four's, eighteen three's, twenty two's, &c. Before the County had been disposed of the immense score of 485 runs appeared on the semaphore. As showing the luck of cricket, it might be stated that in the second innings of the Marylebone W. G. Grace went out when only 11 had been scored, and the total score was only 92 runs, thus leaving the County victorious by an innings and 55 runs. Mr. Hadow's performance was one of the most remarkable batting feats on record. Since the above Mr. W. G. Grace has scored an inning of 268.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Cricketers' Guide.

SIR.—The Committee of the M.C.C. appear astonished to find out that the Intercolonial matches entail a loss, since they undertook the management, but are too dense to see it is through their own mismanagement. They cannot have been made aware, as every one outside their clique has, that they have lost the confidence of the "General Public." G. P. has a great many peculiarities, one of which is "he hates monopoly," which the M.C.C. has virtually appropriated to itself. They keep all the choosing of the match committee to themselves, and their nominees of course favour their masters. Why have they gone away from the understanding entered into when they first undertook the management, namely, to have the match committee, which is the most looked to by cricketers, chosen by delegates from the different clubs as was done at first. Would it not give more confidence and interest to all cricketers, and they now number thousands, as well as G. P.? Is not this a breach of faith in not carrying out the original understanding, and the cause of the different clubs in the colony refusing them the slightest assistance in collecting subscriptions last season for the Sydney match, when they were short of funds? And now, forsooth, they say the want of interest shown by G. P. causes a loss to the Inter-colonial Matches. G. P. has often been heard to say, since the M.C.C. has had the management, "They don't get any of my money, thank you; they are too stuck up, and keep it all to themselves;" and the committee will have at last to open their eyes, and see the facts as they stand. Let the cricketers of the colony have some voice in the management, and there would be such a reaction in their favor that there would be no more crying "The Intercolonial Matches will not pay, because their interest is gone." Let them turn over a new leaf, and, instead of mixing the funds derived from these matches with their own, keep a separate account of them, and act as cricketing trustees for the colony, and G. P. would come forward and see the cricketing honor of the colony maintained, but will not do it when only for the honor of the M.C.C., who have got into bad odor with him.

The committeeship—which has been for years monopolised by five or six, with an outsider or two thrown in—appears to have got into something similar with their own members, as nearly a third of them, numbering near 300, did not pay their subscriptions last year; so there must be something rotten in the state of Denmark, when their own friends desert them. Are they too obtuse to see that they have had too long an innings, and people have got tired of their sameness, as they potter about, like Phillips in batting, and never make a good hit. A “committee” of action is wanted. There is too much red tapeism about the hon. sec. See what an alteration the present “Ministry of action” has already effected in the feelings of G. P !

To the Editor of the Cricketers' Guide.

SIR.—Since the new throwing or windmill style of bowling has been allowed, the duties of an umpire have become much more critical than formerly; and there is no doubt that a “whip” can be put in much more easily, without detection, than under the old “fair bowling” rule. I do not think that the high bowling has at all improved the quality, but it has increased the number of bowlers; nevertheless it has made it much more unpleasant to the batsman, who has to stand being battered about his elbows, ribs, and even head, with complacency, and when sick of that amusement (?), get bowled out by one “well up.” Now would it not be better to allow “throwing”, but to limit the height of the arm on passing the line of the body, as under the old rule, and bar the windmill, bumpy style altogether? We should then have any amount of change bowlers, and should not have to suffer the pains and penalties in batting we now have to submit to, and which have spoilt many a good cricketer. It would also assist the umpire in his decisions, and as throwing is considered so difficult to play, and something out of the way is now required by the great improvement in batting, it might assist in equalising batting and bowling; nevertheless my opinion is, that the old style of fair bowling is more difficult to play than either the throw or the windmill. Neither can get the same spin, only so few fair bowlers have got the gift. It would also materially improve the fielding.

CRICKET AND FOOTBALL AS THEY ARE AND OUGHT TO BE.

T. W. WILLS, ESQ.,

Editor Cricketers' Guide, 1870-71.

MY DEAR TOM.—You asked of me a big thing, to declare, in my own way, what I thought of the cricket and football of the period. I feel greatly inclined to say, without arguing the point, that it is outrageous. But as you are the chief exponent—in fact, the prime sinner in the one category—your humble servant feels a natural delicacy about condemning you altogether. There is no reserve, however, on my part in pronouncing the game of football, as at present played, or rather fought, amongst a lot of muscular young ruffians—limbs and muscle brainless—as a vulgar and brutal burlesque upon the game as played either at Eton, Harrow, Winchester, and, last but not least, in the Richmond Paddock eleven years ago. But I wander. You first want my notions about cricket: football can wait.

Well, then, in a few words, I say that the bowling usually indulged in now is not bowling at all. To bump a ball, and so either frighten or endanger a batsman's limbs and trunk, is simply not cricket. A lazy lot of young vagabonds see Conway bowl high (he always bowls), or Wills chuck an odd one in; straightway they feel inspired to sling, and “put them down,” quite regardless of pace, pitch, or the normal play of the batsman. “Fortune favors fools”—my translation of Andentes fortuna juvat—and the youngsters, having obtained a few wickets by virtual flukes, fancy themselves, and fluke ultimately into a first eleven. How many of these catapultists mature? One in twenty? I think not. And yet the leading club, with all its mellow experience, has never had the pluck to put a stop to what is really little better than stone throwing. Bruised legs and arms, and a nasty heart ache, not got over in a minute, are not bad witnesses in my cause. I, myself, have stood up to the swiftest bowling, and rather liked it than otherwise, so long as the turf was tolerably level. We took our bumps, too, kindly, when the shaven lawn was not to be had. But rib, or elbow, or knee damaged, it was all taken in good part, so long as the bowling was fairly level with the shoulder, and the shying element did not creep in. Edgar Willsher, I think it was, who first thoroughly demoralised English bowling. His was the thin end of the wedge. How soon it was driven home! aye and, to use a colonialism, double banked. I hold you, sir, to have been the first serpent in our Garden of Eden. Not that you would not bowl fairly and admirably well, but, like Topley, you will persist in "mixing" it. I would ask any unprejudiced cricketer whether such bowling as that of Tom Morres and Jerry Bryant, when on the spot, is not infinitely more scientific and difficult to score from than the bumpy slinging which passes for bowling now-a-days? Would it not, therefore, be better for the true interests of the glorious game, that the old 10th law should be revived, and rigidly adhered to.

The umpire grievance I could say a good deal about, but neither time nor space will permit of my enlarging upon this important topic. I may, however, observe that more care should be taken in the selection of these most valuable functionaries. Although it is not every club that can afford to pay a professional umpire in its matches, there is always a non-player on the ground, who thoroughly understands the game. Can anything be more discouraging, for instance, than to be given out leg before wicket from a ball which either did not pitch in a direct line between the stumps, or one which did, and was either working or breaking away as it reached the batsman? Still more annoying is it to be deliberately shied out, as is too often the case. The various clubs will do well to take this subject into consideration.

The question is bound to come prominently forward sooner or later—more particularly if batting continues to improve, and Victorian Graces begin to be plenty as blackberries—whether some alteration should not be made to bring the two leading branches of the game more into accord, either by raising the height or extending the width of the stumps, or decreasing the breadth of the bat. My own idea is that if the stumps were to be made a couple of inches longer than they are at present the difficulty would be met. Bail balls are, proverbially, the most difficult to play, and if the bails were so much higher the difficulty would be proportionately increased, and the number of catches also. I confess I can perceive no force in the objection raised to handicap matches. If tried elevens are always to play, the challenge cup would simply continue to oscillate between the Melbourne and East Melbourne clubs, which I hold would be a public misfortune. Another little matter, and I shall have concluded my hastily put together budget of amendments. Cricket matches are reported now-a-days in very different fashion to that which obtained in my time. A reference to the score book seems now to be the only thing needful to spin out half a column of twaddle. The life and go of any particular match is seldom, if ever, reproduced upon paper. Our mutual, but by no means graphic, friend "Longstop" does occasionally come out of his shell, and give us a few touches worth of Pycroft; but more frequently he scamps his work so much that the reader can imagine him with the score book before him, describing a match, not a single hit of which he had witnessed. "Bat" is a little better, but sadly short of verve and fire. If I were editor of a Melbourne paper, I should insist upon the more important cricket matches being described in such a manner that those at a distance, or who were not present at the time, might have the counterfeit presentment of the game, limned in glowing colour. But, perhaps, I am too exacting, as I don't know above half a dozen men in the colony who can describe a cricket match properly.

In conclusion, I heartily wish you success, Tom, in your undertaking, for it has too long been a disgrace to cricketers that they have not come forward in support of a permanent chronicle of their deeds of prowess on the green sward. As an old co-laborer in the workshop of "Guide" manufacture, I hope to be able to congratulate you, both upon the accuracy and extent of your information, as well as upon much valuable matter outside of mere score chronicling and analysis compiling. The Cricketers' Guide ought to be as much a Victorian institution as the Turf Register.

I turn now to football, which I am sorry to see has degenerated into horse play riot. You may remember when you, Mr. Hammersley, Mr. T. Smith, and myself, framed the first code of rules for Victorian use. The Rugby, Eton, Harrow, and Winchester rules at that time (I think in 1859) came under our consideration, the outcome being that we all but unanimously agreed that regulations which suited schoolboys well enough would not be patiently tolerated by grown men.

Thus, holding, tripping, hacking, and running with the ball, were strictly forbidden ; although the, in my humble opinion, almost equally objectionable practice of place-kicking was retained. This is the thin end of the wedge, the mere momentary retention of the ball in hand being an infringement of the main principle of foot-ball properly so called. It leads to "patting" the ball on the ground and catching it again, as one runs, and this gives the mere fleet of foot an immense advantage over other players. But this is a bagatelle to what is allowed now-a-days. The best player at present is the most expert garotter, tearer of clothes, and upsetter of his opponents. The muscular heathen who goes into a scrimmage regards the other side as so many skittles, and himself as the cheese to floor them with. The very rules under which the game is supposed to be conducted are either openly defied, or contemptuously disregarded. Football has, in fact, degenerated into a disgraceful rough-and-tumble match—good, no doubt, for drapers and doctors, and especially exhilarating to a gaping and idle crowd, but completely annihilatory of gentlemanly sport.

I shall scarcely be accused of namby-pambyism, at least, not by any of the players of ten years ago. You and I have been in too many charges and scrimmages to care for hard knocks legitimately administered. Nor is it only the actual rowdyism displayed during matches that I find fault with. The turbulent element roused by the perpetual meleè does not subside, but redevelops itself afterwards in Tommydodderly and street larrikinism. I am one of the last to curb the natural outflow of high spirits in young men, yet I would gravely submit that society at large is scandalised by the antics and noisy demonstrations of homeward-bound footballers, each one of whom, if the condition of things were reversed, would resent, as impertinent, similar escapades on the part of those whom they offend by disorderly conduct. The colonial youth is quite prone enough to kick his heels in scorn of decorum without being encouraged in his malpractices by those who ought to and do know better. A revision of the rules, so as to bring them back as nearly to the original form as possible, would go far towards curing both the rowdyism of the game and the subsequent saturnalia. The first code was found to answer all through the colony, until a year or two ago, since when the attraction of a Saturday afternoon is not a game at football, but a spilling and clapperclawing match. There is nothing manly in pitching a fellow on to his head when he is not looking, or in half throttling him when he is. I hope to see an entire change of performance at the opening of next season. If there be not, the already greatly thinned ranks of players will be still further diminished and brought low; and ultimately what was once a noble and manly game, will be turned over to the roughs of Little Bourke Street and the Wharves.

Again wishing you success in your undertaking.

I remain,

My dear Tom,

Yours truly,

J. B. THOMPSON.

BALLARAT,

ENGLISH CRICKET.

OXFORD v. CAMBRIDGE.

This, the 37th match, was played at Lords Ground during the past English season. Oxford won by eight wickets. Pouncefote, the Oxonian captain, obtained the head score; Tylecote (the champion scorer of the world) coming next with 42. Yardley, Tobin, and Cobden played the best for the Cantabs. Butler, the Oxford bowler, got all the Cambridge wickets the first innings. The fielding was bad on both sides. Cambridge are still one game ahead, having won 18 matches; two having been drawn—one in 1827, and the other in 1844, both owing to wet.

GENTLEMEN v. PLAYERS.

This, the second match of the kind during the season, was played at the Oval (the first being unfinished, at Lords, owing to rain). The gentlemen appeared at the wickets first, and before the last wicket fell, the score was but ten short of 300. Carpenter, on behalf of the players, played a good not out innings of 72, Lillywhite coming next with 39; total score, 182, and consequently they had to follow their innings. Jupp secured 72, and Daft (Richard's himself again) played a magnificent not out innings of 68; A. Shaw contributed 38, and Pooley 33; total, 260, leaving the gentlemen 144 to get to win in one hour and three-quarters. W. G. Grace soon ran up 43, as did Walker 22; and when 21 runs were wanted to win, G. F. Grace joined Green, who had been hitting in grand style, and at three minutes to the call of time, Green made the winning hit for four, amidst the greatest enthusiasm from all present: Green not out, 57, and G. F. Grace not out, 7. D. Buchanan, who was a good bowler (left hand) some twenty years ago, is still to the fore for the gentlemen in the bowling department. It's strange, but true, the young ones will not take to bowling: it's rather hard work.

VICTORIAN RULES OF FOOTBALL.

1. The distance between the goals shall not be more than 200 yards; and the width of playing space (to be measured equally on each side of a line drawn through the centre of the goals) not more than 150 yards. The goal posts shall be seven yards apart, of unlimited height.

2. The captains on each side shall toss for choice of goal, the side losing the toss, or a goal, has the kick off from the centre point between the goals.

3. A goal must be kicked fairly between the posts without touching either of them, or any portion of the person of one of the opposite side. In case of the ball being forced (except with the hands or arms) between the goal posts in a scrimmage, a goal shall be awarded.

4. Two posts, to be called the "kick-off" posts, shall be erected at a distance of 20 yards on either side of the goal posts, and in a straight line with them.

5. In case the ball is kicked behind goal, any one of the side behind whose goal it is kicked may bring it 20 yards in front of any portion of the space between the "kick-off" posts, and shall kick it towards the opposite goal.

6. Any player catching the ball directly from the foot or leg may call "mark;" he then has a free kick from any spot in a line with his mark and the centre of his opponents' goal posts, no player being allowed to come inside the spot marked, or within five yards in any other direction.

7. Tripping and hacking are strictly prohibited. Pushing with the hands or body is allowed when any player is in rapid motion. Holding is only allowed while a player has the ball in hand, except in the case provided in Rule 6.

8. The ball may be taken in hand at any time, but not carried further than is necessary for a kick, and no player shall run with the ball unless he strikes it against the ground in every five or six yards.

9. When a ball goes out of bounds—the same being indicated by a row of posts—it shall be brought back to the point where it crossed the boundary line, and thrown in at right angles with that line.

10. The ball while in play may under no circumstances be thrown.

11. In case of deliberate infringement of any of the above rules, the captain of the opposite side may claim that any one of his party may have a free kick from the place where the breach of rule was made.

12. Before the commencement of a match each side shall appoint an umpire, and they shall be the sole judges of goals and breaches of rules. The nearest umpire shall be appealed to in every case of dispute. [Now a central umpire is appointed, who decides all disputes in reference to play, &c.]

A new rule has been added to the above, which is, that the teams change ends when half the game has been played, and not when goals are kicked, as formerly. Now, also, one goal counts as a win.

DEFINITIONS.

1. "Drop kick" or "drop" is made by letting the ball drop from your hands on to the ground, and kicking it the very instant it rises.

2. A "place kick" or "place" is kicking the ball after it has been placed on the ground.

3. A "punt" consists in letting the ball fall from your hands, and kicking it before it touches the ground.

4. A "scrimmage" commences when the ball is on the ground, and all who have closed round on their respective sides begin kicking at it.
