‘STUD BOOK’ has been on the stocks for years, but d against its earlier publication. In the first place, the no means a profitable one, but as small profit was ex-ointment was felt on that score. But the most annoying armness shown by the breeders themselves, for whom the book was especially published. Except by constant application, the returns of foals could not be obtained; and it has been with the greatest difficulty that the items of the second volume have been gathered together. The compiler would have felt greater satisfaction had the information in the second volume been more complete, but he has done his best to make it as complete as possible, and for all omissions and errors he craves the indulgence of those who purchase his book. In a few years hence he hopes to publish a third volume, and if in the meantime every breeder of blood stock would devote one half-day during the month of January towards furnishing the necessary information, ‘‘STUD BOOK,’’ vol. III., shall be found a faithful record of what has happened in the breeding world between now and then.

PREFACE.

THE second volume of the "STUD BOOK" has been on the stocks for years, but various causes have operated against its earlier publication. In the first place, the compiler found the task by no means a profitable one, but as small profit was expected, only a small disappointment was felt on that score. But the most annoying feature of all was the lukewarmness shown by the breeders themselves, for whom the book was especially published. Except by constant application, the returns of foals could not be obtained; and it has been with the greatest difficulty that the items of the second volume have been gathered together. The compiler would have felt greater satisfaction had the information in the second volume been more complete, but he has done his best to make it as complete as possible, and for all omissions and errors he craves the indulgence of those who purchase his book. In a few years hence he hopes to publish a third volume, and if in the meantime every breeder of blood stock would devote one half-day during the month of January towards furnishing the necessary information, "STUD BOOK," vol. III., shall be found a faithful record of what has happened in the breeding world between now and then.
